

Scouts, Cubs, Brownies And Guides Commemorate St. George's Day

Attend Divine Service In St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church Sunday Morning

In commemoration of St. George's Day, members of the Stirling Scouts, Cubs, Brownies and Girl Guides, with their leaders, attended divine service in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church on Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. The parade was formed at the Public School grounds and marched to the church, with Scoutmasters Joe Irish and Frank Harding; Mrs. J. Irish and Mrs. B. Woodbeck, (Cubs); Mrs. C. Faires and Mrs. F. Harding, (Brownies), and Mrs. R. Luery, Mrs. E. Cain and Mrs. O. Dalrymple (Guides). The color party consisted of Carl Pitman of the Rover Scouts, Denton Shortt and Doug Faires, of the Scouts; Carol Ray and Lois Vardy of the Girl Guides and Robert Luery and Donald Mumby of the Cubs.

Following the invocation the colour party members marched to the front of the church, where Rev. W. H. V. Walker dedicated a new Scout flag. Award Presented

An impressive feature during the service was the presentation of the Queen Scout Badge to Denton Shortt by Scoutmaster J. Irish. During the ceremony the new Queen Scout renewed his Scout pledge.

Rev. W. H. V. Walker welcomed the various organizations represented and delivered a thought-provoking sermon on the topic "Go On High." He was assisted by Mrs. O. Dalrymple and Miss Carol Ray, who read the Scripture Lessons.

The earth has had its stone age, its iron age and its age and now its motor age with its cars and aeroplanes, etc., stated Rev. Walker.

Sometimes we complain that girls and boys are too fast. But it is natural and right that young folk be active and alert. We do not want them to be slow and stupid. Do not go on "low" but go "on high." Paul wrote to Timothy, "Strive up the gift of God that is in thee."

The first rule of the road is "Keep to the Right." Never be false in anything in word or in act, for that is the wrong side of the road.

A second rule is "Give others their rights." The third rule of the Road, "Slow down at curves and in all dangerous places." The fourth rule is, "Be not sure of your control or feel your head is swimming, step on the brake, shut off the gas." The fifth rule is "If a heavy grade is in sight, speed up."

Difficulties should never discourage you, but spur you on. Pluck is foresight and a winner. Always go "on high" if possible. The "King's business requireth haste," let us go "on high" where He leads.

Special music included an anthem, "In Love Abiding," by the choir, with Miss Linda Anne Morrow taking the solo part, and a solo "Jesus At Golgotha," by Miss Heather Rodgers. Mrs. Harry Morrow presided at the console of the organ for the service.

News-Argus Office In New Location

Time marches on and with the passing of time comes many changes. The building which has housed the News-Argus printing plant since 1884 has been demolished and commencing with this issue the News-Argus will be published from its new location at 5 Front St. West. The first issue of the News-Argus was published September 19th, 1879, on the same site on North St., but in a disastrous fire in 1883, in which sixteen business places were destroyed, the News-Argus building and equipment fell prey to the flames. For a time publication was carried on in a nearby building, but in a few months a new building was erected and new equipment installed by the late John Thompson on the former site.

Two weeks ago today (Thursday, April 18th) moving operations began under the capable direction of W. C. Stapley, of Campbellford, and by Saturday night all the equipment was safely in place in the new location.

We are deeply grateful to Mr. Stapley and his able workmen, to C. E. Macklin and members of our staff for a difficult task of moving well done; to the local electricians, plumbers and carpenters, for their promptness in aiding us get the plant in operation. Finally our thanks go to our readers, advertisers and friends for their co-operation and many expressions of good wishes.

Hastings Skyway Proposed By Reeve Holt

Development of a "Hastings Skyway" on the rim of the Oak Hills, three miles south of Stirling where, an unbroken view extends for as much as 30 miles in almost any direction, was suggested as a tourist attraction Tuesday at Hastings County Council.

Reeve James V. Holt, of Stirling, as chairman of the publicity committee said that such a "skyway" needed only a three-quarters of a mile stretch of road to become a reality.

He even suggested that rental of a concession at a possible lookout might go a long way towards paying the cost of such a roadway.

The Stirling Reeve made the suggestion during a verbal report of the publicity committee's activities.

Possibility of the Ontario Mayors' and Reeves' Association being invited to Belleville next year for their convention was also suggested by the Stirling Reeve, who noted that information was now being gathered to learn what the cost of being host city for the gathering might be.

Brighton Ensign Has Been Sold To Trenton Paper

The weekly Brighton Ensign, one of Canada's oldest one-family newspapers, discontinued publication with last Thursday's issue.

Its circulation and name have been required by the Trenton Trentonian, a weekly established last December.

Decision to close the Ensign was made by Margaret Rose Lapp, fourth member of the Lapp family to operate the paper. The Ensign was acquired by Charles Albert Lapp, her grandfather, in 1886 after it had been in existence for 15 years.

In succession, the Ensign was operated by Miss Lapp's father, Clarence Taylor Lapp; her mother and, since 1955, by Miss Lapp, as sole owner, editor and publisher.

Miss Lapp said rising costs made it difficult to operate a newspaper with modern standards in a community of the size of Brighton. The paper paid circulation was 969.

Miss Lapp is to become press editor of the Provincial Agricultural Department's Publicity Branch in June.

Under her editorship, the Ensign won several awards in Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association competitions. In 1955 it tied for first place as best all-round Canadian newspaper in its circulation class, and its editorial page received the top award on the same basis.

Of the ten provinces; Newfoundland has the most miles of sea coast, and Quebec ranks second. Only Alberta and Saskatchewan do not border on salt water.

A Traveller's Note Book

This historian will not have too difficult a job, I imagine, in deciding just where things went wrong in the Middle East. His history might be worked out along the following lines:

In 1948 the British and French controllers of the Suez Canal were the guilty parties in believing that they were dealing with honest people when they undertook to train a large number of Egyptians with a view to Egypt taking over the Canal in 1968.

Crime Always Pays

This is the title which I have recommended to Mr. Nasser to head up a chapter in his memoirs. He should be able to play quite a game with it.

That crime has no frontiers is a fact Canadians ought to keep in mind, and never more so than in an election year.

Given a political system which breathes oppression, any society will find that its least desirable elements have a way of quickly rising to the top. In a State in which a secret police force and security council is above the law its worst characters gain control. That sort of thing has already started in a society that has relaxed its vigilance in political affairs.

Thought For Food

The fact that a country may be asking for immigrants while one of its cities can publish an unemployment figure of 52,000 sounds silly to me. Perhaps, however, the answer is to be found in that mass production is never more efficient than in the production of unskilled labour.

Why are they walking? Beats me. I know why the coloured people of Johannesburg are walking and I admire them for doing it, but what of the golfer?

They tell me that the trouble with golf is that the player does not get enough exercise.

Unlike me, these players never lose or slice a ball.

The Worth of Kings

And Queens. It is a far cry to the day of Edward the Peacemaker. That British-Franco relationship is no longer a delicate plant is due to a King and Queen.

When in 1903, Edward VII paid a State visit to France, one of his advisers remarked: "The French do not like us." The King replied: "Why should they?"

That evening he faced a hostile crowd of people and mingling with them claimed that if he was not a Frenchman by birth, he was certainly a Frenchman in heart. That did it. The day of his departure for England he had a send off comparable to that recently given to Queen Elizabeth to the tune of "Vive Le Roi. Vive Edouard."

It was he who, on the occasion of the visit of Napoleon III to England, said: "You have a nice country, I wish I were your son." King Edward was then 13 years of age.

Queen Elizabeth has certainly won the Frenchman's heart. I think she gave the Frenchman her heart too. Tall Piece

Marsh Hill W.I. Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of Pine Grove Women's Institute was held on April 17th at the home of Mrs. Alex Tanner with 12 members and the District President, Mrs. L. Rodgers, Stirling, in attendance.

Mrs. Allyn Finkle, President, dispensed with the usual opening and conducted a memorial service for Mrs. Fred Heasman, who had been a valued member of Pine Grove W.I. She was a past president of the branch; a past president of the district and had served three years as secretary-treasurer of the branch, as well as other offices in the Institute.

Mrs. Finkle read a poem "There Is No Death." Two verses of the hymn, "Abide With Me," were sung followed by two minutes of silence and prayer.

Twelve members paid their fees.

A donation of $5.00 was given to Mrs. J. L. Good and the pupils of Marsh Hill school, for the posters and the essays on the project "Littering." The posters were on display and the essays were read. This work had been done by the pupils from Grade V to Grade VIII. This project "Littering" to eliminate the littering of Ontario's highways and by-ways with paper, bottles, tin cans and other trash, being sanctioned at the 1956 spring provincial board meeting of the Federated Women's Institutes of Ontario.

It was decided to give donations to the Consecration Children's Camp and to "CARE."

Mrs. Grace Bartindale reported on the executive meeting of the district. The district annual will be held on June 6th, with the Stirling branch as the hostess group. The roll call is to be answered by a one-minute talk on "One highlight of the branch during the year."

Mrs. Bartindale read a news letter from the Canadian Association of Consumers.

The President, Mrs. Allyn Finkle, thanked the members for their co-operation and their help during the year and asked for their support during the coming year.

The financial report was given by Mrs. Leslie Finkle. The money had been raised by catering to the Belleville Livestock Sales Barn. Ten regular meetings had been held and four members had attended all the meetings.

The reports of the standing committee conveners were given and these will be sent on to the district conveners.

Report of nominating committee was given by Mrs. Charles Ross.

Officers Elected

Mrs. L. Rodgers, district president, conducted the election of officers and installed the new slate.

In the installation ceremony from the hand book the members and officers of Pine Grove branch pledged themselves to work as a unit in the community.

Mrs. Rodgers spoke briefly thanking the members for their co-operation during her term of office. She also gave some highlights of the tea which she attended sponsored by the Salada Tea Company. She also told about how the tea is grown and the processing of it.

The president thanked Mrs. Rodgers for her remarks.

The programme committee is to meet April 30th at the home of Mrs. Allyn Finkle to prepare programmes.

The Bible Today

(By Rev. C. R. Radd)

Another new Nation is coming into being. Anything new generates interest — but anything as large as a new nation excites the imagination.

Indonesia is old in terms of years but new in its outlook and feeling of exhilaration. The end of Dutch occupation means a new era in the history of Indonesia.

Indonesia is formed by four main islands, but also embraces thousands of others; there are four or five ethnic and linguistic groups (150 languages); the cultural life of the country is based on four or five different strata of civilization, as evidenced in Hindu and Buddhist temples, the mosques and the churches.

For many generations the Bible Society has been actively engaged in sharing the Scriptures. Current regulations stipulate that if books are sent as gifts, they must be circulated without charge, which means an almost impossible burden for the Bible Societies sponsoring the production of Scriptures for Indonesia.

Dr. S. G. T. Mullia, President of the Indonesian Bible Society, states: "Christianity in Indonesia has a big future — but the Bible must be there — the whole future of Christianity in our own country is at stake now. Please, oh please, do see that there is no lack of Bibles."

River Valley W.M.A. Meeting

The April meeting of River Valley Woman's Missionary Auxiliary was held at the home of Mrs. Geo. Heasman.

The President, Mrs. Gerald Brooks, opened the meeting with a poem, "In the Garden." The hymn, "There is a Green Hill Far Away," was sung, followed by prayer.

Roll call was answered by the members giving their ideas of what Easter meant to them. The Secretary read a letter from the Unitarian Service Committee of Canada, thanking the River Valley group for making the denim uniforms for Korean children. Some 15,000 uniforms have been made this year by Canadian women. Eight books were reported read and the Mission Band leader reported 18 children present at their last meeting.

Mrs. Roy Bush was programme convener for the Easter programme and quiet music was played while all thought of the meaning of Easter. Mrs. Bush told about the Seven last words Jesus uttered on the Cross and portions of the Scripture were read leading up to these. "The Old Rugged Cross" was sung by Mrs. George Heasman and all joined in singing "The Way of the Cross Leads Home."

Mrs. Bush gave an interesting talk on the events leading up to the events of the Crucifixion and of the Joy of Easter. The Church of Christ began with the Cross.

Mrs. John Kane gave a reading, "The Hope of the Cross" and Mrs. Clifford Lansing and Mrs. Ross Holland led in prayer. The hymn "Beneath the Cross of Jesus" was sung and the meeting closed with the benediction.

A dainty lunch was served by the lunch committee and the hostess. The May meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Ross Holland.

TRAINING

Training young people to drive well and safely is expanding in popularity and interest.

For some time, additional insurance premiums have been required where cars are driven regularly by teen-agers. Some insurance companies are now granting premium reductions where the young people concerned have graduated from approved driver training courses.

Regulations under the Highway Traffic Act require that prospective 16-year-old drivers have the written approval to drive both from parent and from the Chief Constable of the community.

OF MANY THINGS

(By Ambrose Hills)

MONKEY BUSINESS

Well, it had to happen sometime. A smart operator down in the United States has finally unionized our furred and feathered friends.

This may sound like Alice in Wonderland but it's true. Howard Benedict told about it in an Associated Press Dispatch. He wrote, "The union has started organizing animals. Some animals are now better off than people. They're drawing up to $150 a week for a few hours work; they have a retirement plan, sick leave, paid vacations and good food; they travel first class and a few even sleep in the best hotels. The lucky creatures are members of the American Guild of Animal Artists, with headquarters in New York and branches in Chicago and Los Angeles. Animals affected are those engaged in television, film, stage and modelling activities."

Already the unions have made the cost of television production so expensive that many advertisers are afraid to touch it. Now the union has gone even further and it is a pretty good bet that you won't see very many animals or birds on the flickering screen when present contracts have expired.

There was a time when a great many of us on this continent sympathized with and encouraged unions in their efforts to get a higher rate of pay for working men. But the pendulum has now swung the other way. Union bosses have become so powerful that no one can resist them for the moment; but the day will come when public sentiment will make it possible for employers to resist union demands. Unions have been very foolish to push things so far.

It would be a splendid thing if all the union bosses would head the Gallup Poll concerning union activities. They would get quite a shock. They would be particularly shocked to find out that the vast majority of rank and file union members believe that union membership should be voluntary — in other words, that the closed shop idea is not a democratic one.

Unfortunately, the union leaders seem able to go around claiming that they represent so many hundred thousand men. These men are perhaps members of their union because they are obliged to be members; but this does not mean that they agree with all things that union leaders are doing. Many of them disagree completely.

The Gallup Poll showed that when this question was asked "Do you believe, that you, as a worker, should be able to work for anyone you wish who is willing to hire you, whether or not you belong to a union?" The answer of 89% of the workers questioned was "yes," only 10% said "no," and 10% did not have any opinion.

Certainly this information ought to be studied pretty thoughtfully by all union leaders.

Kitchen Most Dangerous Room

Neglect, carelessness, and improper use and handling of modern labour-saving appliances have made the kitchen the most dangerous room in the house, says Prof. J. W. Garland, Agricultural Engineering Department, Ontario Agricultural College.

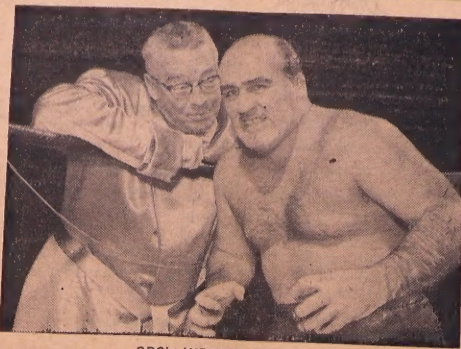

Basement stairways without hand-rails or riser boards cause many accidents to wives and children. Stairs are built for up and down travel, and should not be used for storage of boots, overshoes, jars and boxes. Highly polished floors are dangerous to walk on, and may unintentionally treat house guests to a "flying entrance."

Electrical hazards, such as the improper use of long, inadequate extension cords, cause fires and deaths. Most circuits in homes should have 15 ampere fuses. Since the majority of electrical circuits are of No. 14 wire, the use of larger than 15 ampere fuses is a definite hazard. When a fuse "blows," do not replace it with a larger one instead, decrease the load on that particular circuit and have your electrician install another circuit, says the O.A.C. authority.

The following suggestions are made: Don't leave electric irons unattended; don't handle appliances or cords while in contact with water; don't replace fuses while standing on a wet floor unless you first pull the main switch; don't place radiant heaters too close to inflammable material and don't attempt to make electrical repairs yourself.

Fire hazards include petroleum-type cleaners, overheated stoves and furnaces, rubbish, and neglected chimneys. Never use kerosene or gasoline to "quicken" a fire; explosions and burns may result. Open fireplaces should be shielded by a metal screen to protect rugs from flying sparks.

Dozens of home safety hints are given in Circular 237, "Safety in the Home," obtainable at the office of the Agricultural Representative.

THE FOOD BASKET

FORZEN FOODS ARE CONVENIENT — AND GOOD, TOO!

Because Canadians are busy people, more and more of us are depending on frozen foods for saving time in meal planning. These colourful, fresh-tasting processed foods are a boon to bachelor cooks, career girls and homemakers, too, for they provide a wealth of convenience, variety and excellence not dreamed of by our grandmothers. Besides all this, frozen foods are nutritious, for the freezing process retains much of the original food value of the fresh foods.

The quality of frozen foods as they come to the table depends a great deal on the way the homemaker stores, prepares and cooks them. Frozen foods should be kept at a temperature of 0 degs. F. or below; at higher temperatures or when subjected to fluctuating temperatures, frozen foods begin to deteriorate in quality and food value, even though they still may be frozen hard. The frozen food compartment of most refrigerators is suitable for only short periods of storage, one to three weeks, as the temperature in it may range from 18 degs. F. to 30 degs. F. However, some of the newer refrigerators have a separate control for the freezing compartment so that a temperature of 0 degs. F. can be maintained, the same as in a home freezer.

When to thaw frozen foods and when not to thaw them, is sometimes a perplexing question. Actually, there is no set rule, except that when fruit, meat, etc. are to be thawed, it is best to leave them in the unopened package or wrapping until they are to be served or cooked. When thawing or cooking directions are given on the package, these should be followed for best results.

Frozen vegetables have already been partially cooked before freezing so they do not require as long a cooking time as the fresh. Some frozen vegetables are very good when cooked in a covered saucepan over medium to low heat with only butter and seasonings added. This method takes a little longer than when water is added but the flavour of the cooked vegetable seems fuller and fresher.

Frozen fruits are easy to use. If they are to be served just as they come from the package, they will taste more like the fresh fruit if served icy cold, with a few ice crystals still in the fruit. Frozen fruits can be used in place of fresh fruits in many favourite recipes, if allowance is made for the sugar that was added before freezing. When frozen fruits like raspberries and strawberries are used for shortcake and similar desserts, the juice that's left will give a pretty pink colour and delightful flavour to lemonade, limeade or other fruit drinks.

Business Gifts To Education Essential

Despite shining exception, Canadian corporations on the whole have not taken seriously the needs of higher education, Dr. Sidney Smith, president of the University of Toronto, declared.

Business gifts to education, he added, should be regarded not as charitable donations but as an essential cost of doing business and staying in business.

Noting that when a company employs a university graduate it is purchasing the services of a person whose education beyond secondary school has cost anything from $2,000 to $50,000, Dr. Smith stated that the company employs him because it needs him for its operations. The maintenance cost, he said.

The employer, however, is not required to pay for the capital investment in his education — the heavy cost of training him — so that the company may profit from his vision and his skill, Dr. Smith declared.

"That," he said, "has already been paid, partly by him and his parents and mostly by the university he attended."

The University of Toronto president is one of a panel of leading Canadian and American education authorities who will judge a $75,000 university scholarship contest for Canadian and American youth, sponsored by Johnson & Johnson Limited, a leading manufacturer of surgical dressings, and its American associate company.

Any person of any age residing in Canada and the United States is eligible to enter the scholarship contest and an adult may designate a child to receive the prize. The contest provides for 49 paid-up policies for education ranging in value from a grand prize of $10,000 to 36 fifth prizes of $1,000 each. The competition takes the form of an essay of 50 words or less on the subject: "A good education is important because..." Other Canadian judges are Dr. Norman Mackenzie, president of the University of British Columbia and Dr. Jean Bruchesi, under-secretary of state and deputy registrar of Quebec.

Parents' Attitude Affects Child's Illness

"Every child has to learn how to adapt to an illness. How successful he will be depends to a large extent on his parents' reaction to his being ill, and such reaction is a reflection of the attitudes they themselves have towards it," writes Dr. Robert Johnson, in an article especially prepared for the current issue of Health magazine, official publication of the Health League of Canada.

Dr. Johnson points out that the child is usually unprepared for illness when it strikes, because of its unpredictability, and he goes to his parents for help in coping with the situation. All he is looking for is help in returning to a state of good health and reassurance.

If the parents adopt an attitude of calamity, they may transmit to him a lifelong fear of illness in a matter of minutes, in addition to giving no help at all. The guilt attitude, in which the parents blame themselves for the illness, and review all the things that they did or neglected to do, leading up to the illness, fails to give the child help in coping with his illness, and may give him an antagonistic attitude towards them.

The selfish attitude in which the parent will blame the child for getting sick on purpose in order to thwart them of a trip or a party, leaves the child with his illness and the added feeling that he is rejected by his parents, and no direction as to how to deal with his illness. Then, there is the attitude in which the parents claim that the child is bluffing, and that no one in their family is ever ill. This adds the loneliness of being unable to communicate and share his feelings with his parents, to the discomfort of the illness.

Over-solicitousness must be avoided as well, which can easily lead to the child becoming an unreasonable dictator in the home, willing to use illness as a psychological weapon against the parents.

A combination of all these attitudes may occur. In each instance, the basic problem of illness and recovery is complicated by fear, guilt, or over-solicitousness. The child is confused by irrelevancies, is often baffled, and the road to recovery is prolonged.

Dr. Johnson says that first the illness must be assessed, asking the doctor's help where necessary. This is not the time for placing blame... the child is interested not in how he became sick, but in how he should go about getting well.

"Even minor illnesses require attention to five basic considerations: rest, diet, elimination, treatment, and investigation. The parent can assist the child in considering each of these in turn, and in evolving a regimen of treatment," writes Dr. Johnson.

NEWS FOR THE BUSY FARMER

THICKER PLANTING BOOSTS CORN YIELD

Thicker planting of grain corn has resulted in greater yields for many farmers in southwestern Ontario. Rates of planting corn have been studied on Brookston clay soil at the Canada Department of Agriculture Experimental Substation, for the past five years and these studies have shown that best yields resulted where about 16,000 plants per acre were grown on soil that was well supplied with plant food. In these tests 16,000 plant stands have yielded as much as 20 bushels more per acre than 8,000 plants, states E. F. Bolton. When too few plants per acre were grown, a low yield was obtained because there were not enough plants to make full use of a good supply of plant food. On the other hand, yields were not increased when more than 16,000 plants per acre were grown, even on a very fertile soil.

Before heavy rates of commercial fertilizers were commonly used, especially nitrogen most clay soils could support only about 8,000 plants per acre. A low plant population also was desirable before mechanical pickers were used because the larger ears produced were easier to harvest by hand. Since large ear size is no longer thicker to take full advantage of the newer fertilizer practices.

The spacing between the plants appears to have little effect on yield provided the stand is thick enough. Using 40 inch rows, seed spaced singly 9 1/2 inches apart in the row or two seeds hill-dropped every 19 inches will give a planting rate of about 16,000 per acre. In cases where weeds are a serious problem the check-row method of planting is sometimes used. In this case it will be necessary to drop four kernels every 40 inches to obtain a high enough planting rate. Finally, to make best use of each acre planted to corn it is essential to provide enough plant food, particularly nitrogen, to supply the needs of a 16,000 plant stand.

BLACK STEM OF ALFALFA

A severe fungus disease of alfalfa, Spring Black Stem, appears to be spread in many cases by infected seed, according to Dr. H. W. Mead of the Plant Pathology Laboratory, Canada Department of Agriculture. Damage from this disease can be reduced by treating seed with fungicides such as Arasan and Semesan and by burning stubble in the spring in older fields where the disease is already established.

Black Stem is common in North America and Europe and has increased in severity in Saskatchewan in recent years. The favourable nature of cool moist growing seasons has been partially responsible for this increase. Such seasons favour the development of Black Stem on stubble, fallen leaves, straw and the current seasonal growth, and hinder the burning of infected trash in the spring. Indications are that infection tends to increase from slight in young fields of alfalfa to severe in old fields.

This fungus appears as dark brown to black lesions on the leaves, stems and petioles of the plant and when infection is severe, young shoots are blackened and killed and stems become girdled with lesions. Infected leaves turn yellow and wither before they drop off. A severe infection reduces seed production.

WEED OF THE WEEK

HERBICIDES CAN DAMAGE IF PROPERLY HANDLED

Care in the handling of herbicides cannot be over emphasized, and with a new growing season at hand, the Field Crops Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture brings you a reminder of the damage that may be caused by careless handling of substances that when properly used, can be of inestimable value to agriculture. Through the use of 2,4-D, 2,4,5-T and other herbicides, weeds can now be more easily, more efficiently and more economically destroyed than ever before; but care must be exercised in their use or they can become weapons of destruction. When handling herbicides be sure to protect the eyes and avoid inhaling the chemicals. Prolonged exposure of the skin should also be avoided. When the herbicide is labeled "poisonous" special precautions should be taken.

When using 2,4-D or related chemicals, such as 2,4,5-T, spray if possible on a calm day and always against the wind, keeping the sprayer nozzle as close to the weeds as possible. Careless spraying, particularly with high volatile types of 2,4-D can result in considerable drift damage to susceptible crops such as grapes, tomatoes, tobacco, sugar beets, beans, carrots, turnips, cauliflower and fruit trees.

A special sprayer should be kept for herbicides only as the chemicals are difficult to remove from the sprayer and traces of them in other solutions can damage susceptible crops.

2,4-D and 2,4,5-T should not be stored with fertilizers, insecticides and fungicides because these materials may become contaminated from leaky containers or from accidents in handling.

Great care must be taken to avoid 2,4-D damage in greenhouses. 2,4-D should never be stored in potting sheds or used around greenhouses, cold frames, or hot beds as spray drift or vapor may enter through greenhouse ventilators and destroy valuable plants.

Sodium chlorate is one of the older but very excellent weed killers. It is, however, poisonous to livestock, constitutes a serious fire hazard and is corrosive to equipment. Atlacide and Ercocide are trade names for sodium chlorate with a fire retardant added. Do not smoke or light matches while using sodium chlorate or allow stock to pasture in a field for three months after its use.

Further information regarding care in the use of weed killers may be obtained from your Agricultural Representative or from the Publications Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, Parliament Buildings, Toronto.

New Dairy Legislation Aired At East. Ont. Conference of Cheesemakers

New regulations requiring that milk for manufacturing purposes be tested regularly for bacterial activity was one of the main topics discussed at a one-day conference of cheesemakers at the Kemptville Agricultural School on Thursday, April 25th. The meeting, which was held in the Dairy Division of the School, was attended by about 75 cheesemakers.

While no objections were raised as to the desirability of the additional tests the time necessary to carry them out was said to impose problems on the small factory operator. A resolution requesting that the field staff of the Ontario Milk Products Board assume a greater share of these services was adopted by the meeting. Mr. F. E. Wright, President of the Ontario Cheese Manufacturers, was chairman for these discussions, and the new legislation was described by J. F. Robinson, of Kemptville, chief cheese factory inspector for Eastern Ontario.

Other speakers at the evening session were O. H. J. White, Dairy Products Division, Canada Department of Agriculture, Ottawa; W. E. Brennan, in charge of grading services for Ontario, and A. M. Barr, Principal of Kemptville Agricultural School.

Earlier in the day the group watched demonstrations on the manufacture of Colby cheese as well as on methods of packaging cheese in a new shrinkable plastic film. These were put on by E. A. Brasseur, K. A. Burnett and O. R. Irvine, of Kemptville. Methods of testing milk by the methylene blue and resozurin methods were also described by Mr. Irvine. Dr. R. J. Julian of the Regional Veterinary Laboratory of Kemptville, dealt with the services given dairy herd owners by this unit.

Sixth Annual Banquet Quinte Breeding Assoc'n.

On Thursday evening, April 25th, the Sixth Annual Banquet held by the Quinte District Cattle Breeding Association of Belleville took place at Dawson's Motel, Deseronto. One hundred persons which included the staff of the Association and their wives or guests along with the directors and their wives or guests attended. Also present were the majority of the Agricultural Representatives from the Counties in which the Association operates.

The after dinner speaker for the evening was Mr. Arnold Edinborough, the editor of the Whig-Standard of Kingston. His topic "Bigness and Greatness in Canada" was of great interest to everyone. Being of English origin and educated at Cambridge University he is able to see Canada in a different light than we, Canadians, probably do. He emphasized the inability of the English people to realize the vastness of Canada. He also emphasized the tremendous development programmes which are taking place in Canada and which we as Canadians could probably do more to publicize in other parts of the world.

His remarks on world affairs and Canada's position in them were very timely and interesting.

Canada is a country which is big. It does things in a big way. Mr. Edinborough expressed hope that Canada as a nation, would see fit to exert its influence on the many countries in the world which would be in a much better position if they could adapt some of the things which we in Canada have learned.

During the evening the staff of technicians of the Quinte District Cattle Breeding Association, presented Mr. E. B. Finkle, of Holloway, and his wife, with an electric blanket and reading lamp. Mr. Finkle held the position of Secretary of the Association from 1948 until his retirement in December of 1956. The presentation was made by Carl Bateman, of Stirling.

An evening of entertainment was provided by Barbara Diment, of Belleville, and her dance troupe along with further entertainment by Mrs. Ralph Hill, of Trenton, and Mr. Buddy French, from Belleville.

Officers of the Association at the present time are: President, Mr. Stanley Macklin, Cobourg; 1st Vice-President, Mr. Harold Dettlor, Stirling; 2nd Vice-President, Mr. Russell Osborne, Newcastle; Executive Directors, Fred Hubb, Picton, and Earl Drope, Harwood.

Salem W.A.

The monthly meeting of Salem W.A. was held on April 11th in the form of a pot luck dinner and quilting. This was the last dinner of the season and a good attendance was appreciated with 23 ladies and several men being in attendance.

Mrs. Harold Holden was hostess for the day.

In the afternoon the President, Mrs. M. Johnston, opened the meeting with the theme song and read a version of the theme prayer. Hymn 99 was sung. Roll call was well responded to by household hints. Next month's roll call will be an exchange of flower slips. An invitation was received from Beulah W.M.S. to attend their open meeting. Correspondence for overseas relief was discussed; also a report on buying new table cloths for the tables. Several voiced their thanks for cards received.

The programme was in charge of Mrs. Albert Twiddy. Hymn 101 was sung. An Easter programme leaflet was followed. Those taking part included Mrs. Mel Wickens, Mrs. Harold Holden, Mrs. E. Broadworth, Mrs. Ivan Sables and Mrs. A. Twiddy. This proved very interesting. Mrs. Wm. Wright gave a reading on Easter, followed by a duet by Mrs. Geo. Sine and Mrs. Frank McGee. Mrs. Thos. Clements gave a Missionary reading.

Mrs. Bert Heagle gave the Easter topic which had been well prepared by Mrs. Everett Sine. A reading, "At the Tomb," was given by Gwen Ray. "Happy Birthday" was sung for a member whose birthday fell on the meeting day, which was very much appreciated. The meeting closed with the singing of a hymn and benediction. Dinner money amounted to $10.85.

Zion W.A.

The April meeting of Zion Woman's Association was held in the Sunday School room on Wednesday of last week with Mrs. Alfred Akins as hostess. There were twenty-one ladies present.

President, Mrs. Caroline Wright, presided and opened the meeting with the theme song and the hymn, "O Master Let Me Walk With Thee." Psalm 24 was read responsively. Mrs. Fred Barnum led in prayer.

Miss Violet Wright gave the missionary topic on the work in Thailand. The hymn, "Remember all the people that live in far off lands," was sung. Readings were given by Mrs. Jim Gray and Mrs. Jack Watson. Mrs. J. Gray also conducted a contest. The hymn, "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross" was sung and the meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction. The hostess and her committee served lunch.

Forest Protection Courses

Fire Wardens from the Townships south of the Fire District and Tweed District Staff attended a Forest Fire Training Course conducted by the Department of Lands and Forests at White Lake Hatchery and Actinolite.

The use of hand tools, pack-pumps, setting up of pumps, hose laying, relay tanks, detection and reporting, hot spots, methods of attack, fire crew organization, were but a few of the points discussed, and a fire permit system for use to control burning in the Townships to be taken into the Fire District. Perhaps the more interesting aspects of the course concerned the importance of pressure as opposed to volume of water used on fires, types of pumps, water conserving measures where its quantity is a problem. One of the most important items was the appraisal of the factors (slope, fuel, wind velocity and relative humidity) governing the speed of spread and direction of any fire, so that an intelligent decision might be made as to the point of initial attack and the methods which could be used.

Courses such as that recently conducted will undoubtedly prove to have been beneficial in the event of any fire with which the Township Fire Wardens may be called upon to suppress.

Fish and Wildlife

The migration run of pickerel to their spawning beds got off to a slow start this Spring owing to the cool weather during the first week of April. The third week saw the fish at their peak in the district. Altogether we have had nearly four busy weeks checking on the numerous places where pickerel enter the rivers and streams to spawn. The unusual dry Spring has caused an additional hazard for the fish. Owing to the low water the pickerel are very vulnerable to poachers, but the latter have paid a price. To date approximately 50 men have been apprehended. Equipment seized has included 4 cars, besides numerous spears and lights. Is it worth the price? These men should remember that it doesn't pay and they are endangering our heritage which is deemed to be of great value to all sportsmen.

Death never takes a holiday but drivers and walkers have no responsibility to keep death busy, says the Canadian Highway Safety Conference.

Reforestation On The Moira Forest

The Ontario Department of Lands and Forest's staff have started planting on the Moira Forest. A total of 100,000 trees will be put in on three properties which have recently been acquired by the Moira River Conservation Authority. Two of these are in Sidney Township, west of Holloway and one is in the Tyendinaga Township, north of Read.

Under the Authority's agreement with the Department, all the expense of reforesting and maintaining the property, for a period of fifty years, is borne by the Provincial Government. As far as possible, the trees will be put in with a planting machine.

Due to the varied soil conditions, a large number of species are being used in the planting. Most important of these will be White Pine, European Larch and White Spruce with smaller quantities of Red Oak, White Ash, Carolina Poplar, Jack Pine, Black Locust and Silver Maple.

The Other Chap

No precaution on your part can make the other chap do the right thing when he's driving, reads an editorial in the Clinton News Record. The only thing you can hope to do is to be ready for the most unusual thing that the other drivers may decide to do. Be alert to see when that oncoming car turning out into your lane to pass another vehicle ahead of him. Be quick to see when that other car is going to turn out onto the road in front of your own. Be wide awake all the time, when you're driving.

T. A. Kerr Hired As Building Inspector At Salary of $200.00

To Ask Department Highways To Mark Danger Corners—Grant To Red Shield

Following a lengthy discussion on the Building Bylaw for the Village and the duties required of a building inspector, members of Council engaged T. A. Kerr at a salary of $200 at the regular monthly meeting on Monday night.

It was pointed out that any one carrying out building or renovating operations, valued at $50 or over, must first procure a building permit. Failure to do so could lead to a fine under the provisions of the bylaw.

R. K. West tendered his resignation as milk inspector for the Village. He was appointed by Council at the January session.

Harry Cooke waited on Council to see if he could purchase a lot south of the town pump house. The matter was left in abeyance.

Dangerous Corners Discussed At Length

A lengthy discussion ensued regarding the regulating of traffic at the four corners in the centre of the Village, where Highways 33 and 14 merge.

The erection of "stop" signs on all four streets; installation of a flasher light, or traffic lights, and painting a double white line on the road surface to overcome the practice of cutting the corners were among the suggestions offered. It was pointed out that the Department of Highways had made a survey of traffic at this Highway junction last year, and decided the amount of traffic didn't justify a traffic light. However, this does not alter the fact that it is a particularly dangerous intersection. Chief Constable Eggleton stated motorists, particularly strangers, never see the present stop sign on Front St., as their attention is to their left looking for traffic coming south on Highway 14. "The Department will wait until some one is killed, then take steps to control the traffic" was the comment of one councillor. On motion of Councillors K. Ray and J. Wright, the Clerk was instructed to write the Ontario Department of Highways, asking that at least a double white line be painted on the corners to guide traffic.

Reeve J. V. Holt addressed Council on the County Road Demand from the Village amounting to $5,551.90. Twenty-five per cent of this amount, less any expenditures made by the County on County roads within the Village, is returnable to the municipality.

On motion of C. A. Wells and K. Ray the contract for building a sidewalk on the east side of North St. from St. John's Rectory to the north side of the C.N.R. crossing, was given to Riverside Construction, the work to be done under the supervision of the streets committee.

On motion of Councillors W. L. Pollock and Jas. Wright, the Clerk was instructed to notify the C.N.R. and Bell Telephone Co. that this work could be started on May 13th.

Grant To Red Shield

A request from T. C. Graham, of Tweed, for a donation to the Red Shield Campaign, resulted in a grant of $25.00 being made to the Salvation Army at Tweed.

The matter of closing that portion of Nancy Street south of Wellington Street, and its subsequent sale, as requested by B. Woodbeck, at an earlier meeting, was discussed and Council decided to take no action.

A communication from the Ontario Department of Welfare advised Council that in future the Province would assume 60 per cent and the municipality 40 per cent of the cost of all direct relief.

The Clerk also tabled a communication from the Department of Finance at Ottawa, re the assessment to be placed on the local Post Office.

The following accounts were passed for payment:

F. A. R. MacFadden, $500.00; Public Utilities $293.08; Roy Irven, $35.00;

Costs Mount In C. Hastings Area

Tweed Municipal Council has been advised by Centre Hastings High School District Board, that a rate of 18 mills on the County Equalized Assessment of 1956, has been established, as the rate for 1957.

The village of Tweed is asked to raise by taxation, 18 mills on $1,172,000, which is $21,096.00, for secondary education.

Last year, the rate was 9.6 mills for village taxpayers, and the total amount necessary to raise was $11,582.00. Taxpayers will note, that the costs for secondary education, have almost doubled over 1956. Increasing teachers' salaries and other mounting costs, will add considerably to the tax burden of local taxpayers, when the tax bills are issued this year. Tweed News.

The President, O. Clapper, conducted the worship service. Miss Gena Spry gave the Scripture and Meditation.

During the business, final plans were discussed regarding the Lilac Tea to be held on May 23rd in the church parlors. It was decided to have the annual Strawberry Social, the date to be set the latter part of June.

Miss Gena Spry conducted the following programme — Hymn No. 679, followed by a musical selection by Mrs. O. Clapper. Rosa Spry gave a reading, "The World's Alright", Hymn 56 was sung. Gena Spry read "A Big Mistake". The meeting closed with Hymn 559 and the benediction.

Rosa Spry conducted a contest on Proverbs.

Following a social time and lunch, Mr. C. Tammison moved a vote of thanks to the Boyce's for their hospitality.

Honoured By Business Men

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. McGee Recipients of Bouquet and Chaise Lounge on Monday

Finis was written to a lengthy business career in this village on Monday when J. C. McGee, local hardware merchant since 1908, officially retired from active duty. For forty-nine years he has served the hardware needs of the citizens of Stirling and district, part of the time in partnership with the late Jas. Legrow, and latterly on his own with the assistance of his daughter, Betty.

Mr. Graham Mouck, of Tweed, recently purchased the business, and took over the management of the Mill Street store on Monday.

On Monday afternoon the business men of the Village gathered at the store to bid farewell to Mr. McGee from the worries of business and to extend best wishes to him and his family for the years that lie ahead.

R. A. Patterson, probably the oldest business man in years of service in the Village outside of Mr. McGee, paid tribute to "Clint," as he is popularly known, for his fair and honest dealings with his fellow business men and patrons and his pleasing manner and courtesy to all.

He also paid tribute to Mrs. McGee and the five members of their family, all of whom were held in high regard in their home communities. He especially mentioned Betty who has been a great help to her father in operating the business. "Your many fine qualities as a businesswoman and citizen, were worthy of emulation," stated Bob, who closed with a tribute to Mr. McGee as a staunch supporter of his Church, and voiced the wishes of all present that the McGee family would have many years of happiness.

Stan Meeks presented Mrs. McGee with a bouquet and Dave Duffin made the presentation of a beautiful chaise lounge on behalf of the business men. Miss Betty McGee expressed thanks on behalf of her parents, and coffee and cake were served, with Mrs. McGee being given the honour of cutting the cake.

Gleaning From Hastings County Council Sessions

Pay Raised

Across-the-board salary increase of $150 per year for male employees of the Belleville Jail was approved by Hastings County Councillors Thursday afternoon.

The raise, the second one within a year, will become effective June 1st of this year. Last September fall employees received a raise of $15 per month.

Grant To Community Centre

A grant of $500 was approved for the Tyendinaga Community Centre, the grant request being presented by Deputy Reeve Charles Long who said the building was getting much community use.

Warden Leslie McLaren noted that Tyendinaga was proud of its hall.

"This is the first time that Tyendinaga has asked for a grant," he said.

Cost of Indigents Down

The finance and public property report submitted by chairman of finance Reeve B. Harder, showed that indigent hospital accounts to the amount of $11,699.25 had been paid during the first quarter of 1957, this being about $2,000 less than the previous quarter. C.A.S. and training school accounts to the amount of $17,619.60 had been authorized for payment covering the first quarter.

Red Cross Given $500

This included the cost of the preventative worker in the Belleville C.A.S. society.

A grant of $500 to the Red Cross had been authorized and included in the annual campaign.

Deseronto Want's To Withdraw From County Road System

The town of Deseronto wants to be cut out of the Hastings County road system.

A request for this relief was heard Thursday morning at the spring session of county council, when it was addressed by Deseronto's Mayor Dr. D. C. McVicker, who claimed that his municipality was "isolated" from the county road system and said they were prepared to take over maintenance of the county road in Deseronto if they could be relieved from the county road levy starting next year.

He noted that the county road levy cost the town $5,400 and in the words of Reeve Twiddy "less than $500 was spent on their county road last year."

Name Committee To Protect Interests

A special committee of Warden Leslie McLaren and village Reeves T. C. Graham, of Tweed, and William Shannon, of Marmora, has been named by Hastings county council to look after the county's interest with respect to the proposed annexation in Sidney and Thurlow Townships by the city of Belleville.

OIL FIRED BOILER TO BE PLACED IN COUNTY HOME

Installation of a new higher capacity oil fired boiler at the Hastings county home for use during the summer months and during the tag ends of the heating season, will result in a saving of money, county councillors were told Thursday.

The new boiler is of 75-horse-power capacity and its automatic operation will result in a saving of about $800 a year in labor and engineering costs.

There will also be a saving in fuel costs as the heavy coal fired boilers will be operated for shorter time during the year.

Mrs. C. Fitchett, Madoc Junction Bereft of Brother

A Traveller's Note Book

One of the advantages of getting around is that one is sure to pick up something here and there. Recently it was this little bit of the past that blew — literally blew into one's way:

Dear Reginald:

"You have heard the call of King and Country, as you are about to leave with the 30th Battalion for overseas, your friends in Raydon wish to assure you of their warm appreciation of your qualities. . . . We feel sure the King's uniform as worn by you, will ever mean courage, sobriety and honour. . . ."

Signed — Cleala Heath, Maud Bailey, Gladys Tucker and Rev. S. F. Dixon, 1915.

In the same month, the River Valley Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. Walter Barker with 25 members present.

How are you doing now — River Valley?

Girl Wears A Sword

It is not a new idea apparently, a number of American towns claim that their girls have or used to wear swords. Anyway, the practice is prevalent in many towns today. One girl wears a sword whose meaning is: "I am going steady." Another's may mean, "I'm not going steady." A third signifies, "I'm dated," while another tells the world "I am dated."

Now I want someone to tell me what sword the undated or outdated should wear.

Use A Nickel

In some countries folk have been able for many years to use the phone for many and varied purposes. For instance, in Europe, all you have to do in order to check the time is ask over the phone, "Time please," and immediately a voice gives you the time to the second. A person lost need only dial "O" and say "I am lost." Immediately a voice tells you exactly where you are, and if asked for directions so that you may get from here to there, the voice gives you the precise direction. And that's service. Should you be in a strange town or city and should you want to know what is going on at the theatres, you ask the phone the question and up comes a list of "What's On" as long as your arm.

Now I notice the Americans are coming up with similar services — some useful, some not so useful, some just sensational.

In New York, should you be contemplating suicide, as a person condemned to live in New York might, all you need to do is whisper into the phone, "I'm going to commit suicide." A voice will answer, "Hold on for a minute, I'll be right with you." If you are in trouble, or have cause to blow a fuse, you should tell it over the phone and ask for a prayer. A prayer will be said over the phone with you. This by one of the more enterprising churches. If you are getting bored with the company, all you need to do to bring in the right sort of atmosphere is — phone for a joke, and up comes the joke from the joke factory, and if you are out of practise, you may ask for directions on how to fold the nappies — you get it. It's a wonderful world. "

The Rolling Road

Travelling over an unpaved road recently brought to mind a road in Muskoka at the entrance you may read this sign: "Choose your rut, you will be in it for the next twenty miles." The only snag I found was that I met a fellow coming in the opposite direction who also had read a sign, we were about ten miles in and using the same rut. It wasn't funny.

To appreciate the rolling road you have to think about it, not just drive over it. After all, any village road will take you to the end of the world. A road is like a thought, if you stay with it, it gets you somewhere; but like walking, thinking is becoming a lost art.

One remembers that Jesus was a man of the open road — on it He did much of His teaching; taught His Disciples; visited with them and after His resurrection, walked with them.

So the road is a companionable place, while other people use it. Driving or walking solo is not an exciting business, it calls for company. A couple recently told me that while driving together they find time to

OF MANY THINGS

(By Ambrose Hille)

ALL ABOUT ADVERTISING

Last week, because of one of those columns, I was asked by a leading Canadian trade magazine to write a 2000-word article on the subject of advertising. So I began a study to find out what others had said on the subject over the years. I was surprised at the long history of the subject.

The first known advertisement printed in the English language was written by a fellow called Bill Caxton, back in 1475, and apparently it paid off because he kept advertising for the rest of his days.

In a couple of hundred years from then, old Sam Johnson said, "The trade of advertising is now so near to perfection that it is not easy to propose any improvement."

Macaulay, the famous historian, in 1820 declared, "Advertising is to business what steam is to machinery — the great propelling power."

The editors of the Reader's Digest set out to find and compile all important comment on advertising over the centuries, and came up with a bookful which it provides, free, to its advertising friends throughout the world. Reading it renewed the faith I've had in the power and importance of advertising in a free world.

Away back in the early 19th century Alexis De Tocqueville said, "A newspaper can drop the same thought into a thousand minds at the same moment. A newspaper is an advisor who does not require to be sought, but comes to you briefly every day of the common weal, without distracting your private affairs. Newspapers, therefore, become more necessary in proportion as men become more equal individuals, and more to be feared. To suppose that they only serve to protect freedom would be to diminish their importance, they maintain civilization."

How true that is today!

Suppose we had no advertising to support the daily and weekly press? Suppose the only news we could get would be that dished out by officials, in some far-off capital? How could our democracy function. Wouldn't it soon decline into a dictatorship by the few over the many.

Advertising is one of the most important processes of freedom. As long as free men have access to the means of publication, without licensing, we can hope for the retention of the freedom we love and the material well-being we all desire.

Maybe you'll think about some of these things as you look through the advertisements in the paper you now hold in your hand.

Springbrook W.A.

Mrs. Percy Smith and Mrs. Percy Bateman were hostesses to the members of Springbrook United Church Women's Association on Thursday afternoon, May 2nd, in the basement of the church, with 39 members and 6 children present.

Words of welcome were extended to all by the President, Mrs. Clayton Burkitt. The Devotional Period was conducted by Mrs. Gordon Bateman, the theme being "Forgiveness". The Scripture reading taken from Matthew 18:21-35, was read by Mrs. Ralph Thompson. Psalm 702 was read responsively. The theme, "Thoughts on Forgiveness", was read by Mrs. Murney Mason, followed by prayer by Mrs. Don Bateman. The Devotional closed with the Lord's Prayer in unison. The roll call, "Bible Children," was well responded to. Minutes of the last meeting were read by the Secretary, Mrs. G. Webb. "Thank you's" were read from Mrs. Lorne Bailey and Mrs. Burton Bateman. Mrs. Clint Robbins and Mrs. Arthur Reid extended thanks for the flowers and fruit received during their recent illnesses.

Mrs. Myrtle Cassidy reported for the April visiting committee. Mrs. Fred McKeown, card convener, reported on cards and fruit sent out to sick and shut-ins. Mrs. Gordon Webb and Mrs. Reg. McKeown were appointed visiting committee for May. It was decided to purchase two dozen more chairs for the basement.

Mrs. Ralph Thompson and Mrs. Fred McKeown were appointed delegates to the W.A. convention to be held at Grace St. United Church at Trenton, on May 30th. Arrangements were discussed and invitations are to be sent out and a guest speaker is to be contacted for the July meeting. This concluded the business of the meeting and the following programme was given. The topic on "Homemaking", prepared by Mrs. Arthur Reid was read by Mrs. Frank Cosbey.

Readings were given by Mrs. Andy McInroy, Mrs. Percy Smith, and Mrs. Murney Mason. A solo was tendered by Mrs. Carman Sine with Mrs. Florence McKeown at the organ. Mrs. Delbert Fleming conducted a skit entitled the "Spice of Homemaking", with Mesdames C. Sine, H. Beare, C. Burkitt, G. Webb, R. McKeown, D. Fleming, F. Cosbey and M. Mason taking part.

The meeting closed with Mizpah Benediction. The hostesses and their assistants served lunch. Collection amounted to $3.52.

The June meeting will be held in the church basement with Mrs. Percy Murney and Mrs. Murney Mason acting hostesses.

Mrs. Fred McDonell Hostess For River Valley W.I.

Twenty-five ladies attended the May meeting on Thursday, May 2nd, of River Valley Women's Institute at Mrs. J. R. Donohoe presented her report. The Institute has one thousand dollars in bonds. An invitation to attend a Mental Health lecture was accepted. A donation of ten dollars was made to the Consecration Children's Camp Fund. It was decided to provide another extra ten dollars to help pay the expenses of another member to attend the Anniversary party at Guelph. Plans were made for a bake sale in June in the Hatton Block. Delegates were appointed to the West Hastings District Annual, June 6th at Stirling.

The June meeting will be held one week earlier on Thursday, May 30th, at the home of Mrs. Vernon Harry. It was decided to ask for a Home Economics Course in July. A report of the recent Executive Meeting was given. The roll call was a display of hob-bles and this included crochet work, leather articles, fancy quilt, scrap books, etc.

Mrs. Vernon Harry presided over the programme and gave a demonstration in "Handicrafts", which included leather work and textile painting.

Mrs. Phil Conley outlined the motto, "Busy Hands often go with a healthy mind", and she also conducted the sing-song, which included "Springtime in the Rockies".

Three selections were read as follows, Miss Marion Carlisle, "Our Letter Day", Mrs. Arthur McDonell, "The Month of May", and Mrs. Ernest Carr, "It Isn't So Easy".

A contest, "Names of Materials", was won by Mrs. W. Shortt, Centenary.

The hostess and lunch committee served sandwiches and cake after which Miss Marion Carlisle voiced thanks for the hospitality, programme and refreshments.

WORKING WITH CANADIANS IN EVERY WALK OF LIFE SINCE 1817

NEWS FOR THE BUSY FARMER

WEED OF THE WEEK

WEED CONTROL STARTS IN ADVANCE OF GROWTH

With the beginning of spring growth, weeds too come to life, and before they emerge from the soil is the time to start the year's weed control programme, reports the Field Crops Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

This pre-emergent weed control may be divided into two parts — cultural and chemical. Cultural control, which is an older method, consists of the use of the harrow, rotary hoe and finger weeder in the destruction of germinating weed seedlings prior to, and just after, the emergence of a crop such as corn or soybeans. Only the top one or two inches of soil should be worked so that no more weed seeds will be brought up to the surface where they will germinate.

Pre-emergent chemical control is the application of chemical weed killers to the soil surface before the weeds and crop emerge from the ground. The chemical is applied when the crop is sown or before it shows above the ground. This method is known as the "Preventive Approach to Weed Control" because weeds are destroyed before they start to compete with the crop for plant food and moisture.

Pre-emergent treatments give promise of weed control in several crops susceptible to chemicals and which could not be sprayed after they have emerged from the ground. The chemicals control the weeds by killing small seedlings that are starting to grow and by establishing a toxic layer of chemical on top of the soil which either stops weed seed germination or kills young seedlings which come in contact with this layer. With these treatments the crop must be tolerant to the chemical at the seedling stage or the toxicity must have disappeared before the crop emerges. Great care must be taken to choose chemicals and rates of application which kill the weeds but leave the crop unharmed. The Field Crops Branch emphasizes the importance of following the manufacturer's directions implicitly when applying chemical weed killers.

Publications dealing with the subject may be obtained from the office of your Agricultural Representative or the Publications Branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture, Parliament Buildings, Toronto.

SUPPORT PRICE FOR FOWL

The Minister of Agriculture has announced that the Agricultural Prices Support Board has been authorized to provide a support price for fowl produced in Canada. The support is on the basis of a price equivalent to 23 cents per pound live weight at Toronto for top grade fowl five pounds and over, marketed for slaughter from August 1st to November 30th, 1957, with appropriate differentials for other weights and principal markets throughout Canada.

The Minister stated further that he hoped by introducing this additional support for the poultry industry that a measure of stability would be provided in the main marketing season for fowl. He indicated that this price was slightly above recent market prices.

TABLE TURNIP EXPORTS UP QUARTER MILLION BUSHELS

Shipments of table turnips from Ontario to the United States have increased by more than a quarter of a million bushels over exports for the same period last year, reports the Turnip Committee of the Ontario Soil and Crop Improvement Association. Prices however were lower than in previous years.

The Committee felt that from a nutritional standpoint, the demand should continue to increase as yellow turnips have many favourable characteristics, among which are a low calorie count, high mineral content and a plentiful supply of vitamin C, as well as an attractive color. In addition they are coated with wax to preserve freshness.

Trends in merchandising were discussed by the Committee and problems and methods of production reviewed.

ALFALFA IMPROVES SHEEP PASTURE

Seeding alfalfa at the rate of one pound per acre with individual grasses or in grass mixtures, gave notably greater gains in weight in dry yearling ewes pastured on them in 1956, at the Canada Department of Agriculture Experimental Farm.

During the grazing period from May 8th to October 22nd (168 days) gains in weight by the ewes per acre of pasture were: Crested wheat grass, intermediate wheat grass and Russian wild ryegrass, 6 pounds per acre; the same grasses plus alfalfa, 49 pounds; crested wheat grass and alfalfa, 41 pounds; intermediate wheat grass and alfalfa, 38 pounds; Russian wild ryegrass and alfalfa, 70 pounds per acre.

In 1955 the pastures were stocked at the rate of 14 ewes per acre — a light rate of grazing to ensure a strong stand. In 1956 the fields were grazed at the rate of about 24 ewes per acre, or close to carrying capacity.

Due to the lighter grazing in 1955 there was an abundance of feed on all fields but during early summer and late fall in 1956 ewes on the grass-alone fields were short of forage though the heavier grazing gave higher yields per acre. The greatest gains per acre in both years were on the Russian wild ryegrass-alfalfa fields and the lowest gains in both years were on the fields without alfalfa.

PRODUCING CLEAN EGGS

When an egg is first laid it is free from stains. However, as hens are not the most careful of creatures nor the ordinary hen house the tidest of places its fresh appearance does not last long without protection.

Perhaps the most persistent enemy of egg cleanliness is dampness. Stains found on eggs are due to moisture. Wet litter, for instance, is the pad and the birds feet the stamps that put a good many stains on eggs. Excessive moisture in litter is a serious problem in itself but if it can be eliminated by more insulation in the house, proper ventilation or suitably managed deep litter, fewer dirty eggs will be one of the general benefits.

Best design is also important in egg cleanliness. A nest not built to hold litter to at least a depth of three inches should be remodelled to this capacity. Ample litter helps cover soiling materials and provides a cushion against breakage. Although straw is often the handiest material on the farm it has the drawback of sticking to eggs and if damp causes staining. Wood shavings, available at a low price in many parts of Canada, make an excellent litter. Any nest litter should be changed from time to time. The ratio of hens per nest is also important, the recommended number being not more than five per nest.

Cleanliness of eggs is such a general requirement that most poultry catalogues depict egg cleaning devices. These range from simple hand buffing pads to automatic egg washing machines with special detergents. One of the features of the new wire cages with sloping floors, as well as the modern laying cages, is their ability to reduce the number of soiled eggs. Community nests for which easily read plans are available from the Canada Department of Agriculture have also found favour with many poultrymen.

Gathering time is when soiling might occur. Baskets made of wire, either plastic covered or plain, have the advantage of allowing eggs to be cooled quickly but careful filling is required. Considerable cleaning is necessary if a broken egg runs down through the basketful. The procedure at the Experimental Farm at Harrow, Ont., is to fasten a small wooden box, a little larger than a half egg case, on a wall in each pen at head level. The eggs from the nests are put in trays in this box until it is convenient to take them to the egg room. A square of cloth tacked to the cupboard top and let hang curtainwise in front acts as a door to keep out dust. Tucked to the bottom of the cloth is a light strip of wood to keep it hanging in place. Removing eggs from the nest at frequent intervals is very important in keeping down the number of soiled eggs and this cupboard is always handy as a temporary holding place.

Quinte Branch U.E.L. Assoc'n.

The regular meeting of the Quinte Branch United Empire Loyalist Association was held in Adolphustown Town Hall, evening of May 1st, with an attendance of fifty eight.

The election of officers for this year resulted in Dr. Allison, of Pictou, being the new President. Several were in attendance from Stirling, Holloway and Foxboro.

Hastings county has about sixty members. The total of the Quinte branch is now one hundred and sixty, in slightly over a year since this branch was started.

The guest speaker was Mr. L. L. Merrill, of Hamilton, of the Dominion Branch, U.E.L. Association, who spoke on our U.E.L. ancestors and our "Heritage". Are we making proper use of the benefits we enjoy as a result of their labors? Are we fully aware of the good country in which we live, or do we take things for granted too much? We should not be "Worshippers" of the memory of our ancestors, but to live worthy lives, and help thereby to improve our country, especially by lending a helping hand to newcomers to Canada in memory of those who landed here in a wilderness and no one to bid them welcome. As Canada is a member nation of the "Great Commonwealth", so its peoples' influence is being felt in far away countries.

Appreciation was voiced for the good work of the Past President, Mr. Claude Young, of Wellington, who has done so much to make the Quinte Branch a success, by interviewing many people and arousing their interest — also visiting many old and sadly neglected cemeteries in the counties of Hastings, Prince Edward and Lennox and Addington, in search of names of former residents. Anyone who has ever done any of this kind of work will appreciate the work of Past President E. C. Young, who has done so much in the interests of many of us, who have benefited from the labours in the Pioneer days of the United Empire Loyalists and other early settlers.

Application forms for membership may be had from Mr. Erie Denyes, Shire Hall, Belleville, and Mr. E. J. Chard, RR., 4, Stirling.

Hostess To Past Grands' Club

The Past Grand's Club met at Sister Marion Heath's home on April 24th. The President, Sis. Warren, opened the meeting by all repeating the opening verse and the Lord's Prayer in unison. Sixteen members answered the roll call and one visitor was present.

Two letters of invitation were read and graciously accepted. (1) A letter inviting the Club to meet with the Past Noble Grand Club of Tweed at the home of Sis. Graham on April 26th. Two carloads attended; (2) A letter inviting the Club to hold their next meeting in Peterborough on May 22nd at the home of Evelyn Bailey, which was accepted.

The President closed the business portion of the meeting with an appropriate poem, "If I Had Known," after which Sis. Grace Vandervoort, as programme convener, took charge.

The programme consisted of a poem "House Cleaning," by Sis. Neva Vandervoort. Sis. Annie Warren rendered a beautiful solo, "The Last Day," after which everybody participated in a "Bird" contest.

A delicious pot luck supper was served after which Sis. Alleen Vandervoort graciously thanked Sis. Marion Heath for hospitality.

The Bible Today

(By Rev. C. R. Rudd)

One hundred and fifty-three years young! That is the age of the British and Foreign Bible Society which this week held its annual meeting in London, England. At birth, in 1804, this Christian organization spoke to the world in 64 languages — it has acquired an additional 1045 languages.

It was reported at its Annual Meeting the Bible Society now supplies Scriptures in 1109 languages.

In its 153 years the Society has printed and distributed more than 624,000,000 copies of Holy Scriptures. Almost all denominations depend upon the Bible Society for the translations used in their missionary work everywhere in the world.

More than four and one-half tons of new newly-printed Scriptures are shipped daily from the Bible House in London.

BRINGING NEW HOUSES TO LIFE

This man's job is to bring new houses to life with electricity. Long before this new house was finished, Ontario Hydro and your local Hydro Utility had planned ahead for it; this house and many more like it. Increased power requirements were analyzed. Lines were constructed and, if necessary, new transformer facilities installed.

For the occupants the flick of a switch will bring electric power surging to their bidding, to do a multiplicity of chores faster and more economically by electricity.

Let's Clean Up

It has been said that a good citizen is one who among other essentials, seeks to make his or her town a better, happier, and cleaner place in which to live. This problem is by no means new, but is as old as the town itself. Dirty streets tend to a grey, weary, hopeless feeling, while clean ones, on the contrary, make for courage, comfort and satisfaction.

Ten Thousand Girls Active In 4-H Homemaking

Popularity of 4-H Homemaking clubs in Ontario is demonstrated by the fact that some ten thousand girls were enrolled last year in food, clothing, house furnishing, hospitality, gardening and home defence clubs. It appears that there will be more clubs and more members this year — more girls learning to plan meals and cook and sew, to be good hostesses, to dress becomingly, to grow both flower and vegetable gardens, to make simple furnishing accessories for their homes and to keep themselves fit physically and mentally.

This rapidly expanding, practical and popular type of home economics education is carried on under the leadership of local women who give their services voluntarily. At present there are 1,164 Ontario women acting as club leaders. They meet with their County Home Economist, who supervises 4-H Homemaking Club work, at training schools where they take instruction in the project they are to direct and frequently they offer their own homes for the club meetings once a week. This co-operation from local leaders is of invaluable assistance to the Ontario Department of Agriculture in carrying on its programme of 4-H Homemaking Club work.

It is gratifying to County Home Economists and local leaders that a growing number of newcomers to Canada are joining the homemaking clubs. The experience should be helpful to these girls not only because it gives them a chance to learn Canadian ways of keeping house, but because a 4-H Homemaking Club is a social as well as a learning group.

CONSERVATION NEWS!

Reward For Tagged Fish

Since 1953, a total of nearly 3,000 whitefish has been tagged in the Bay of Quinte. Fishermen co-operation has, in general, been excellent and the recapture results so far have been most rewarding. However, certain information has always been difficult to obtain and we feel that the best way of obtaining this information is to obtain the whole fish from the fisherman, for examination. To this end, the Department is now paying a bounty of 50c per lb. for the tagged fish, plus $1.00 for the tag. Drums of preservative are being placed at certain fish warehouses and fisheries.
Small white tags and string with which to affix them to the fish are also provided, and when placed in the formalin, the tag should show the fisherman's name, the date and location of capture and the fresh weight of the fish.

Gets B.A. Degree At Queen's

Miss Janet Ross, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ross, of Kingston, graduates on May 18th from the Faculty of Arts of Queen's University.

In this connection it is interesting to note that Janet's great great grandfather, Rev. Robert McDowell, pastor to the United Empire Loyalist Presbyterians at Adolphustown, was one of the founders of Queen's.

And one hundred years ago, in 1857, Janet's great great uncle, Robert Parker, registered in the first medical course at Queen's. He graduated in 1861, served as a surgeon in the American Civil War, and later practised medicine in Stirling. His brother, Francis B. Parker, was the father of Janet's grandmother, and of her aunt, Miss Emily Parker, who still resides in Stirling.

Three of Janet's grandparents were Queen's grads, Dr. A. E. Ross, of Kingston; Mrs. A. E. Ross (Mabel Parker) and Dr. J. J. Robertson, of Belleville.

A great uncle, Frank Parker, of Elmira, N.Y., graduated from Queen's in 1886, and is one of the oldest living graduates.

Other close relatives numbered among Queen's grads were Dr. J. L. McDowell, of Kingston and New York and Judge James Parker, of Stirling and Toronto.

More recently, Janet's uncle, Dr. Arthur Ross Jr., graduated from Queen's in 1950 and now lives in Oakville. Her father, Donald Ross, graduated in 1932 and is now City Engineer in Kingston.

Mrs. Blanche Reid Gives Topic

The topic, "Mothers were made in Heaven," was given by Mrs. Blanche Reid.

We picture Heaven as beautiful, like the sun, bursting forth its golden rays of light and warmth, showing the world the vast difference between light and darkness. So then a good mother must be part of God's plan to give to others her good influences and examples. Her face will show the goodness concealed in her heart, and as a hand stretched across the nation, showing each and everyone the meaning of patience, suffering and endurance mixed with loving kindness. This is our tribute to a good mother as Mother's Day is May 12th. Mother doesn't need a special day to be made. Everyday should be mother's day, showing our best and giving our best to her, she is with us for such a little while.

When ever she looked at the sunset, With its color of crimson and gold She seemed to grow homesick for Heaven

And the glories that here shall unfold.

So — beyond the sunset she's waiting.

Free from all sorrow and pain, Waiting there with her Saviour Till we are all together again.

Mrs. Frank Smith gave two readings, "Love Him" and "Betsy's Boy." Mrs. E. Cooke won the lucky prize, a piece of china, donated by Mrs. M. Williams.

Two contests were put on by Mrs. Reid and Mrs. Bronson. "Birds" and "Member's Names." The first contest was won by the group of Mrs. D. Montgomery, Mrs. Rodgers, and Mrs. A. Brooks. The second contest was won by the group of Mrs. E. Luery, Mrs. L. Rodgers and Mrs. R. Stapley, each receiving candy and nuts for their work.

The meeting closed with the singing of the Queen and lunch and a social time followed. A plant exchange was also held with each member taking her choice.

Rev. W. H. V. Walker Conducts Sacrament of Baptism — Special Music Rendered

A large congregation was in attendance for the special Christian Family Day Service at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church on Sunday morning.

Baptismal Ceremony

Rev. W. H. V. Walker conducted the sacrament of baptism when the following children were christened:

Susan Ann, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John Walker, Hamilton; Laurie Jane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Wanamaker, Peterborough; Michael John, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Montgomery, Stirling; Christopher Wayne, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Bice, Stirling; and Vickie Eileen and Brenda Marie, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Hay, Stirling.

Miss Gena Spry, superintendent, welcomed the large congregation on behalf of the Sunday School officers, teachers and pupils, and Miss Beth Cook read the New Testament Lesson.

The quality of "Hope" had a prominent place in Hebrew times as well as Christian times. Today we need Hope in our experience.

The challenge is to exert good influence in our homes, for from Christian homes will come men and women where "Hope is in God." Let then our homes be a means of grace and channels of revelation. We all have a share in helping mould the future of our youth.

Carolyn Rollins Is Bride of Donald J. McInroy

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Stirling, was the scene of a lovely wedding on Saturday, April 20th at 2:00 p.m. when Mary Carolyn Rollins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence B. Rollins, Stirling, became the bride of Donald Johnston McInroy, son of Mr. and Mrs. George McInroy, Belleville. The Reverend W. H. V. Walker officiated. Tall standards of pink gladioli and white "mums" formed a beautiful setting for the double ring ceremony.

Miss Ruth Mumby provided the traditional wedding music and accompanied the soloist, Miss Heather Rodgers, who sang, "Because" and "O Perfect Love."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose an Elizabethan gown of rose-point lace and nylon illusion. Seed pearls and sequins accented the portrait neckline and the bouffant skirt was etched with lace applique, tapering to a phantom train. Her fingertip veil of lace was caught to a headdress of nylon tulle enhanced with seed pearls and sequins. She carried a bouquet of red gerberas and white hyacinth bells and ivy.

The maid of honour, Miss Lois Cooke, of West Huntingdon, cousin of the bride, and the bridesmaids, Miss Beverley Morgan, Stirling, and Miss Eleanor Wright, Holloway, wore white length gowns of sherry blue taffeta and lace with matching feathered headresses and carried nosegays of pink and white carnations.

Mr. Douglas McInroy, of Toronto, brother of the groom, was best man, while Mr. Leo Buckley, of Belleville, and Mr. Raymond Roblin, of Toronto, were ushers.

Following the ceremony a reception and buffet luncheon was held in the I.O.O.F. Hall, where the bride's mother in a gown of beige satin, with brown and beige accessories and corsage of yellow roses, received the guests. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who was gown in powder blue lace with navy duster and matching accessories and corsage of red roses.

A three tiered wedding cake, beautifully decorated with blue birds and lily of the valley, centered the bride's table and the flowers were pink and white sweet peas.

For the wedding trip to Niagara Falls and west central United States, the bride travelled in a beige suit with brown accessories and corsage of yellow roses. Mr. and Mrs. McInroy are residing in Belleville at 205 Charles St.

Guests were present from Stirling, Belleville, Madoc, Toronto, Hamilton and Bonarlaw.

Previous to her marriage, the bride was the honoured guest at miscellaneous showers given by Miss Beverley Morgan, and the neighbours. She was also the guest at a dinner party at the Tweedsmuir Hotel, Tweed, by the girls at the Hydro office, where she is employed.

St. Paul's Notes

(By Rev. A. Packman)

The St. Paul's Sunday School Anniversary is to be held on Sunday, May 26th at 11.00 a.m. and 7.30 p.m. Rev. Dr. E. Andrews, of Queen's Theological College, will preach.

The Stirling Festival of Sacred Praise will be held on Monday and Tuesday, May 27th and 28th. The Bible Study group will meet for their exercises in the new building at St. Paul's instead of in the Public School as in previous years.

On Sunday last a large hymn book was dedicated to the memory of Jessie Bell (Mrs. Frank Bailey), the wife of her sons, Archie and Charles. Christian Family Day services were well attended both at St. Paul's and Carmel. The Superintendent of the Sunday School at Carmel, Miss Marion Carlisle, shared the service with the Minister and Lyle Couch read a lesson. The children and young people's groups sang and a most happy occasion it proved to be.

The young people at Carmel under the leadership of Mrs. Packman, have been a very vital part of Carmel life during the past months. On the musical side, Mrs. A. Pye has produced some splendid singing.

Mr. G. Carlisle and family visited Carmel on Sunday and Mr. Carlisle spoke the greetings of St. Paul's to the congregation.

A Traveller's Note Book

The Government of China seems to be bothered about the one thing we would expect a Communist people to forget — Marriage! Often enough the remorseless logic of realities busts up phony political ideas. It did so in Russia earlier on though the Western world seemed not to notice it at the time. It also had to do with marriage, or better still, with keeping married.

China now discovers that there are more divorces than marriages in China. Hence the headache.

This divorce business is, I suppose, consistent with the refined Polygamy as practised in America. A New York Journal has a list of such things in each issue, it usually goes like this: Married, So and So to So and So — she for the fifth, sixth time; he for the fourth, fifth time.

In the same journal is a really touch piece this issue on what they call "Mother's Day."

Out of the Mouths...

"Out of the mouths of babes" saith the Bible. Walking in a suburban road recently, a man came across a number of teenagers, boys and girls doing their best to bust up a mail box. When he enquired the reason for this vandalism he met with the reply: "It's like the papers say, we're teenagers, we've got to behave like this. Some say it is due to the decline in organized religion, see, others say it is because Ma and Pa set us a bad example, anyway, we are a sociological problem."

The Rolling Road

Following a certain journal's hot words about a lack of interest in walking — with a companionable friend, I took to a country road on Sunday. Several cars passed us by and I suggested that the occupants probably thought we were escapees from the Pen. The walk was good and pleasant, the apple blossom a delight, the undulated fields carpeted with a wonderful green. We noticed the walls of rock, some around 10 feet across, and we thought of the men who placed them there and the days when men did a real hard day's work. And when there was the large rambling farm house where sixty or so years ago, a young handsome fellow brought his wife, the years that followed during which the backbone of this country was built; the horse and buggy days, the farm suppers after harvest, the Sunday drive to Church, the neighbourliness. From the top of the hill we could see for a thousand miles, almost to the end of the world and at the same time, the reason why religion was a simple practical thing before men stopped walking.

Writing Writers

The sub-title should be "Everyday Psychology." Tension Williams tells us that writer must be in agony before he writes, that is, if he is to be a good writer. The reason is that writing comes only when the writer is emotionally sad, then he is compensating for something.

It all sounds like the man who is happy only when he is miserable. Sigmund Freud would explain this strange state of mind as due to an inability to live in a real world of men and women.

Statesmanship

Just strengthen the weak by weakening the strong.

Tail Piece

Grim alternatives: "The way I'm playing golf," muttered a player one Sunday morning, "I'd be better off in Church."

You have to believe in Happiness, Or Happiness never comes. I know that a bird chirps none the less, When all that he finds is crumbs. You have to believe the buds will blow, Believe in the grass in the days of snow. Ah, that's the reason a bird can sing, On his darkest day, he believes in Spring.

Stores To CloseAll Day Monday Starting Next Week

At a meeting of district merchants held in Marmora recently, it was agreed that Monday closing of all stores in Stirling, Madoc, Marmora and Tweed would start next Monday, May 20th.

At the same time, stores will start to remain open all day Wednesday. Merchants in the four communities agreed that the Monday closing was in line with a province-wide trend. It is expected that Havelock and Newwood stores will also adopt the new hours.

Local stores will not open on Tuesday evenings as in past years. It was felt that with the stores open all day Wednesday the Tuesday evening hours could be dispensed with. The local stores will of course remain open on Saturday evenings.

It is hoped that the new hours, which are adopted for a full year, will eliminate the confusion of several changes through the course of the year. Only exception to the Monday closing will be the two Mondays previous to Christmas, when local stores will open for the day.

EXAMINATIONS

Sai, our teenage daughter, looked out at the sunshine and sighed, "Gee, I'll be glad when examinations are over and I can be out all the time."

Her Papa, who had vague memories of making similar complaints in the long ago, responded, "Honey, examinations are never over."

I tried, then, to get across to her and to Bill the challenging fact we must all learn.

Life conducts examinations every minute of our lives, and marks our papers with impersonal justice.

When young, we drift through life, unaware of the constant exams and the handling out of marks. But we are being marked, then, as always, with ruthless justice. In latter years, child-like still, we sometimes try to forget that we are daily writing our own examination papers. We try, foolishly, to put the blame for results on some unknown "they" or far-off "it" when a low mark comes our way. But deep in our hearts, we all know whether we did our studying the solid, steady way or tried merely to "cream" in the odd moment, or to trust to luck for the answers.

Being afraid to recognize that life is a daily examination is foolish. The fear does us no good, merely makes us poor performers. There is more joy in recognizing that life is a challenging test, and doing our best to get high marks.

And high marks are not, after all, too difficult to win. It takes very little more energy to win than it does to think up alibis for failure.

I'm not sure I put the lesson across. Perhaps it is too much to expect teenagers to understand, when so many of us adults failed to do so.

We've tried to turn over to governments a vast number of matters which should be our own responsibility. We've often traded some of our freedom for what we thought would be more security against the challenge of life. We've asked governments to legislate our morality, develop our culture (as if anyone can do our reading for us!), and spend our money.

But life, like a firm schoolmaster, will not let us escape in that way. We are marked, in the end, for our own individual performance, for our own mistakes and our own decisions.

But it can be fun, this challenge. When life writes O.K. on your examination paper, there's no feeling of joy to match your satisfaction. And since we're all being marked, whether we like it or not, why not roll up our sleeves and try for honours?

W. A. Meeting
Mrs. Don Johnson conducted the W.A. work. The treasurer reported $265.00 proceeds from two sales and banquet. The secretary read a thank you letter and an invitation to attend the English Line tea. It was decided to pay the Festival fees and to procure Bibles for the Sunday School.

Mrs. Frank Jeffs conducted the devotional on "Forgiveness" and gave a paper on that theme.

Mrs. Merle Spencer read, "Two Golden Days." Miss Ruth Linn sang, "Dear Lord Forgive." The Bible Lessons were read by Mrs. Carleton Potts, Mrs. Frank Spencer Jr., Mrs. Raymond McConnell, Mrs. Earl McAdam and Mrs. Will Potts. The services closed with a Scottish Psalm and prayer.

The hostess served light refreshments and all enjoyed a social half hour.

What Others Say!

MEETING OLD FRIENDS

(Montreal Gazette)

Perhaps much of the dissatisfaction in the meeting of old friends comes from the awareness that not only have the old friends changed; they remind us that we ourselves have changed. The far off time to which they belong is far off for us also. It may be a painful realization — and bewildering.

THEN THEY LOSE IT

(Hamilton Spectator)

A shortage of executive talent is lamented in the business community, which seems odd. All babies are born with the knack of ordering other people around; somewhere on the way apparently, they lose it.

MAKING A CHOICE

(Wall Street Journal)

If most men had the chance between marrying a girl with beauty and a girl with brains — they'd take the girl with the money.

THE PENSION PLUM

(Ridgetown Dominion)

In the editorial columns of the Glengarry News last week we got another slant on the M.P. pension business. It seems that in its own riding there is a strong possibility that two liberal candidates may be in the running, sponsored by rival factions of the Liberal party and both claiming to be "official." The News mentions two other ridings where a similar situation seems to have developed, and there may be others across Canada.

It is not unreasonable that such a condition should arise in view of the $10,000 a year salary and possible $3,000 pension attached to the parliamentary job. This situation was created by the Liberal government, and it has been in power so long that its supporters are apparently beginning to feel that the emoluments of office should be passed around — not confined to the favored few.

In other words, it appears that the Liberal regime has become so confident of its own permanency that it is losing its solidarity. Factions are springing up prompted by a desire to share the spoils. As the News concludes:

"This situation will worsen the longer the Liberal party remains entrenched at Ottawa. It could reach the stage where there are so many Liberal candidates running they will split the party vote and perhaps permit opposition candidates to increase their representation in the Commons. "That might serve a useful purpose in restoring a two-party House."

The Bible Today

(By Rev. C. R. Ruddy)

What's in the name, Manus. Many readers never heard of the name. Manus is both an island and a language.

It is one of the larger islands of the Admiralty Group, lying north of New Guinea. The Manus New Testament translation was almost completed at the outbreak of the second World War. Two copies of the New Testament manuscript were ready for submission to the Bible Society. Then in 1940, the island was occupied by the Japanese. The chief translator, the Rev. R. Goebel and six members of the staff were killed. The manuscripts lay hidden in the roof of a native hut.

In 1944 the Americans bombed the hut and manuscripts were destroyed. Fortunately, however, it was discovered that a third copy had been sent to Germany before the war, and it is this manuscript which, after revision, now forms the basis of the Manus New Testament.

Nurse and father both agree that some things are too important to leave to chance. So, like most Canadians, each uses a chartered bank for planned saving, making regular deposits to accomplish a definite purpose.

Your own savings plan may be a short-term, modest one — maybe a vacation trip, or new drapes for the living room. Or your goal may be long-range, like providing more security, greater comfort and independence for you and your family.

But whatever use you find for the money you save, you'll always be glad you saved it!

NEWS FOR THE BUSY FARMER

RESULTS OF POULTRY PRODUCTION TEST

Results of the first central production test for poultry, at Ottawa, shows a wide range in the performance of commercial chicks, reports G. R. Wilson, Chief of the Poultry Production Section of the Canada Department of Agriculture's Production Service.

Mr. Wilson says the First Central Production Test shows the great variation that exists in the performance of commercial chicks offered for sale in Canada. During the 500 day test the range in net profit per chick was from $3.95 down to $1.68. Livability throughout the test period ranged from 92.8 per cent to 69 per cent. In egg production, a difference of better than five dozen eggs per chick started, existed between the poorest producing entry and the best egg laying entry. The best entry had an egg production record of 208 eggs per chick started, whereas, the lowest producing strain had a production of 146 eggs per chick started. Similar differences were shown in egg size and feed required to produce a dozen eggs.

The test is an extension of the R.O.P. Policy operated by the department's Production Service. It is designed to provide facilities for breeders to compare the performance of their stock with that of other breeders, under common management conditions, and thus learn the factors on which they must concentrate in their breeding programmes. Since the results of one test cannot be regarded as conclusive, details of the performance of individual entries will be released publicly only after further tests have been completed.

The first test, which included all the commercially important egg breeds, indicated that there are a number of highly efficient egg-producing strains in Canada. The performance of the heavier breeds was assisted in that respect by the revenue from meat. Under the conditions of the test, feed costs and egg returns from April 1st, 1955 to August 13th, 1956, (the period of the test) the average net return over and above chick cost, per chick started, was $3.05.

WEED OF THE WEEK

KNOWLEDGE OF WEEDS ESSENTIAL TO CONTROL

Although crop spraying was begun on a more or less experimental basis as far back as the 1920's, it was not until 1946 with the introduction of 2,4-D, that chemical methods of weed control began to be used extensively. It is reported by the Field Crops Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Since that time research has continued in order to find the best methods of chemical control; the proper time of application, and use of the proper quantity under the best conditions. Spray equipment has also been developed and improved to make the task easier and more effective.

To do a thorough job of weed killing, 2,4-D must be applied when the weed is actively growing and able to absorb the chemical. The growth and condition of crop plants must also be taken into consideration in deciding when to spray. A knowledge of the life history of weeds and their behaviour at certain stages of growth is helpful, as some weeds grow more rapidly than others and some are in a weakened condition when in bloom.

It has been established that much of the spraying is done too late, due to the fact that many of our weeds are not recognized until they bloom. By that time, more chemical must be used and the kill is not so complete as if it had been done earlier.

Crop spraying is an important part of farming and a knowledge of the proper use of chemicals and the operation of sprayers can be a big factor in increasing production.

Information on the control of weeds may be obtained from the office of your Agricultural Representative, or from the Publications Branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture, Parliament Buildings, Toronto.

LOOSE SMUT CONTROL IN BARLEY

Several ways of controlling loose smut in barley and wheat have been developed in addition to the hot water treatment which was the only known means of control for many years, Dr. L. E. Tyner, of the Plant Pathology Laboratory, Science Service, Canada Department of Agriculture, says satisfactory results may be obtained by soaking seed for 64 hours in water at room temperature. Another method mentioned by Dr. Tyner involves soaking seed in water for 3 to 6 hours followed by draining off the water and placing the seed in pillow bags or other vessels that can be tightly sealed to exclude air for a period of three days. The seed must be dried rapidly after treatment to prevent sprouting.

A period of immersion in water of short or long duration is involved in all methods of loose smut control. The water absorbed by the seed not only initiates the germination processes of the seed but also may activate the vital functions of the fungus organism within the embryo of the seed. With all methods of control it appears that the smut fungus is more vulnerable to injury than is the seed embryo.

Regardless of the control method used, Dr. Tyner advises sowing a few bushels of treated seed each year in a seed plot to ensure a supply of disease-free seed for regular planting.

SEPTICEMIA DISEASE OF BEES

Septicemia appears to be another disease of the adult honeybee, and studies are being made, by Canada Department of Agriculture apiculturists at Ottawa, to determine how the disease is transmitted from healthy to sick bees and to find therapeutic substances which will act as control. The extent of its occurrence in the bee-keeping areas in Canada, however, is not known.

GIANT FIRECRACKER!

The day children wait for as they stock up on firecrackers is Victoria Day. They are probably envious of this huge firecracker; no doubt the picture is equally interesting to male viewers thanks to dancer Joan Roberts. Joan can be seen each week on CBC television's "Cross-Canada Hit Parade."

The disease is caused by soil bacteria, Bacillus anthracis, which enter the body of the insect and develop in the blood. The symptoms of bees which have died as a result of the disease are somewhat similar to those caused by other diseases. The dark and greasy appearance of the abdomen is a symptom of bees infected with Septicemia but the same symptom is also apparent in bees heavily infected with Nosema disease. One symptom, however, which appears to be specific is the tendency of the body parts (head, thorax and abdomen) to separate when the dead bees are handled.

Inoculation experiments indicate that the disease is not likely to be spread by food transmittance. When bees were fed sugar solutions containing the bacteria the disease did not develop but when sprayed with suspensions of the organism heavy mortality occurred.

4-H Beef Club For South Hastings

An indication of the trends in Hastings County is the fact that for the first time in the history of 4-H Club work a South Hastings 4-H club for beef calves has been organized. These 4-H Club members come from various parts of South Hastings and many are from farms that at one time were noted for their dairy cattle.

At a recent organization meeting Mr. John Clark, Roslin, was selected as Club Leader, while Douglas Detlor, Stirling, was elected President; Vice-President is Wayne Hadley, Stirling; Secretary-Treasurer, Douglas Rollins, Plainfield, and Publicity Director, Catherine Kinlin, Stoco.

The next meeting of the club was planned for Wednesday, May 15th at the time of the joint Coaching Meeting at Stirling.

Soil and Crop Proceedings Available

Copies of a booklet giving proceedings of the 1957 Annual Convention of the Ontario Soil and Crop Improvement Association may now be obtained from offices of Agricultural Representatives, from the schools and colleges of the Department of Agriculture at Kemptonville, Ridgeway and Guelph, or from the Field Crops Branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture, Parliament Buildings, Toronto.

The 160 page booklet provides a wealth of information which will be of interest to farmers and agricultural officials. It is nicely bound and would make a valuable addition to any library.

In addition to farm subjects of general interest, there are sections with special appeal for potato, turnip, registered seed growers, and cash crop farmers. Attention is given to weed control; handling of manure and fertilizers; the weather, and ways and means of improving farm income.

The report of E. M. Warwick, of Blenheim, on his recent trip to Russia, under the heading "Corn in the Ukraine" is of interest, as is the address by Paul W. Edward of the Agricultural Research Laboratory, Philadelphia, "Advances in the Processing of Potatoes into Stable Form." Hon. E. C. Drury's address on "Some New Aspects of Soil Conservation" is also contained in the booklet.

W. W. Dawson, of Peterborough, was general chairman of the Convention and Jas. A. McEwen, M.P., of St. Thomas, was elected President for 1957. Eighteen Directors and an executive to represent various areas of the Province were also elected.

CONSERVATION NEWS!

Forest Fire Safety Rules

Build campfires only on rock, sand, gravel or mineral soil — near water. Clear away all inflammable debris and overhanging branches. Keep your fire small.

When you leave your campfire — even for a few minutes — put it dead out, with water. And before you move on, pour more water around the edges and take a final feel of the ashes to be certain no live embers remain.

Never smoke while walking in the bush or on the trail. Crush out cigarette butts and pipe heels on rock, or throw them in water. While driving use the car ash tray.

Use thermos bottles to carry hot drinks whenever possible and help reduce the use of fire and consequently the fire danger.

Use a spark arrestor on your chimney and a standard refuse burner for destroying rubbish.

Nature Gimmicks

Not only are beaver becoming a nuisance in some localities, but bold and lazy. At the close of the recent trapping season, a farmer and trapper in the Plevna area, living one-half mile from the nearest water, reported the following story to us.

Towards the wee hours of the morning, the farmer was aroused by the excited barking of his two hounds. Several attempts to quiet the animals failed. Finally around 4 a.m. when it became apparent that there would be no further sleep unless something could be done about the noise, the farmer went out to investigate. Here the owner found both dogs looking toward their dog-house and the presence of their master gave them added courage to approach closer and to snarl and bark more viciously, but it was quite obvious they would not enter or even get too close to the entrance.

Very cautiously the farmer peered into the dog-house and low and behold, there sat an extremely large beaver on the skinned-out carcass of another which had been placed there as food for the dogs.

It is any person's guess as to whether the beaver was looking for ready-made lodging or attending the wake of a departed friend.

While we believe the first one, we will let you decide on the next —

A farmer from near the same area was having nuisance beaver trouble and reported same to the local Conservation Officer. He was told he could destroy the dam and then to hang a lantern nearby and to place tin cans along a wire which would frighten the animals away.

This was tried and several days later the farmer reported the following story:

After the lantern and tin cans were strung along and over the creek where the dam had been, the farmer waited for a couple of nights to see what effect they had. When he returned he was amazed to see a new and larger dam nearly completed. Several beaver were busily employed at construction, while one was holding the light and another was using one of the tin cans to carry water to the workers so as to prevent any delay.

THE FOOD BASKET

SUBTLE SEASONING BRINGS INDIVIDUALITY TO YOUR COOKING

Just as a tiny drop of perfume brings you a feeling of enchantment, so a gentle touch of seasoning can bring fascination to the foods you serve. Many a good cook will agree that this is the secret of her success. She has learned the good rule "season to taste," and you can learn it too. Go easy at first — add only a sprinkling or two — and taste your way along for happy results.

Start with some of the more familiar spices and herbs and, as time goes by you'll find it such fun trying out new combinations of flavour that you'll want to add some of the less familiar seasonings to your collection. To help you, here are some ideas from the Home Economists of the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture:

Try —
Cinnamon — With stewed dry fruits, blueberries, chocolate sauce, whipped cream for gingerbread.
Nutmeg — With candied parsnips, asparagus, cauliflower, spinach.
Mustard — With cheese sauce for macaroni, Welsh rabbit, green beans.
Celery Seed — With coleslaw, sauerkraut, kernel corn.
Ground Cloves — With Harvard beets, creamed onions.
Curry Powder — With cream of chicken or celery soup, devilled eggs.
Mint — With fruit cocktail, vegetables (carrots, peas, lima beans) to be served with lamb.
Oregano — With tomatoes, lamb or pork, eggs, cream cheese.
Dill Seeds — with carrots, string beans, beets, sauerkraut.
Basil — With tomato soup and salad, broiled tomatoes, green peas.
Marjoram — With lamb, string beans, peas, zucchini.
Savory — With hamburger dishes, pea soup, poultry.
Thyme — With veal, pork chops, stew, soup.
Paprika — With fried chicken, pork chops, corn on the cob, fish.
Caraway Seed With cheese, hot buttered red cabbage, sauerkraut.

A large congregation including the Rover Scouts of Stirling, with Mr. Joe Irish the leader, heard Canon Anderson speak of the need to become aware of the only solution to man's problems being faith in God. St. Andrew's W.M.S.

The May meeting of St. Andrew's W.M.S. was held at the home of Mrs. Earl Fox with Mrs. Wright and Miss Gena Spry as the assistants. The President, Mrs. E. Foster, opened the meeting by reading a poem which brought out the beauty of the earth. Surely we should be willing to give of our very best at this season of the year. The hymn, "From Ocean Unto Ocean," was sung, after which Mrs. Duncan Montgomery read the Scripture Lesson from Psalm 103. The prayer from the Glad Tidings was read by Mrs. L. Rodgers. This prayer expressed the hope that each member may become an earnest W.M.S. member.

With "reverence" the keyword, the roll call followed in charge of Mrs. Earl Fox. It is hoped that each member will avail themselves of this opportunity. The Summer Rally of Kingston Presbyterial W.M.S. is to be held in St. Andrew's Church, Stirling, on May 29th. We earnestly pray that every family in the congregation will do their best to help with this occasion. The offering was taken at this time by the treasurer, Mrs. E. Cain, and a prayer of dedication followed.

Programme

The second part of the meeting was in charge of Miss Gena Spry. Miss Spry was most grateful to each member who was willing to help on this programme. A poem, "Spring Cleaning," was read by Mrs. E. Fox. But while cupboards and shelves are refreshingly neat, I must rid my heart's chambers of hate and conceit.

A well prepared paper on "Reverence," was given by Mrs. Roy Eggleston. If we have reverence and respect in our hearts, we are on the road to successful living. A story of a little girl who was determined to give her all to the missionary people, was read by Mrs. E. Cain. A delightful piano solo was played by Mrs. V. Matthews. After the benediction a delightful afternoon tea followed. The thanks of the society to Mrs. Fox and her helpers was expressed by Mrs. W. L. Munro.

Miss Inez Morrison

Guest Speaker

The guest speaker, Miss Inez Morrison, of Toronto, Personnel Secretary of Woman's Works in the United Church, was introduced by Mrs. C. A. Bell. Miss Morrison is a graduate of the United Church Training School. Her experiences have been. Director of Christian Education in Moose Jaw, a teacher of household science in Archibald Institute, Trinidad, a year of study abroad under the Kaufman scholarship, and considerable travel in Canada.

Miss Morrison's subject was, "Women in the Church" and her text the verse of Scripture on the day's programme. She said, "We are Christians because God gave us power to be new people. We can see our church's shortcomings but also her strength. We need many recruits and there will be many vacant places, for we have not enough with the training to do it. The onus is on us to teach our young people the values. The need for Christian workers is great enough at home. We should be willing and pressing for some of our young people to go into church work. The church only serves through you and it is your responsibility to see that there are enough people to fill the places of training for church life."

Election of Officers

The election and installation of officers was carried out by Mrs. A. A. Crowe, Vice-President of the Dominion Council W.A. Mrs. Lindsay, of Pembroke Presbytery, heading the courtesy committee, expressed the gratitude of the executive and members to the hostess church and programme participants for making the day pleasant and successful.

Of a total membership of 164, Hastings County has over 60. The Quinte Branch started a year ago with 21 members transferring from the Toronto branch.

The speaker was Mr. L. L. Merrill, of Hamilton, a member of the Dominion Council, who spoke on "Our Heritage." — What Value? "Are we making proper use of the benefits we enjoy as the result of the labors of our ancestors, he asked. Are we fully aware of the good country in which we live, or do we take too much for granted? We should not be worshippers of our ancestors, but live worthy lives, thereby improving our country. We can offer a helping hand to newcomers to Canada, in memory of those who landed here in a wilderness with few if any to bid them welcome. New Canadians take their interpretation of our country from us, who have our heritage extending back five or six generations. He also spoke on current events in Asia and Africa of the present time. As Canada is a member of the Commonwealth, its peoples' influence is being felt in faraway countries. Mr. Merrill pointed out several reasons why Canada should continue to co-operate with Britain.

Appreciation was voiced for the good work of the past president, Mr. Claude Young, of Wellington, who has done so much to help make the Quinte branch a success, by interviewing so many people and arousing their interest and by research work in visiting so many old and sadly neglected cemeteries in the Counties of Hastings, Lennox and Addington and Prince Edward in search of names of former residents.

Albert Farrar Father of Mrs. M. Wrightman, Dies

Prominent in the business life of Trenton and Tweed for many years, Albert A. Farrar, 158 McLellan Street, Trenton, died in the Trenton Memorial Hospital on Sunday afternoon, May 19th. He had been in ill health for sometime and had recently returned from Florida where he spent the winter in search of better health. The late Mr. Farrar was born in Syracuse, N.Y., 72 years ago, being the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. Farrar, but had resided in this country most of his life. As a young man he came to Canada and settled in Tweed, where he established a business, dealing principally in furniture. After a successful venture in that village, he moved to Trenton and became prominent in the business and civic life of that community for many years.

Although he was never a member of the council or the school board, he took an active interest in his adopted town and served for many years as a member of the public utilities commission. He was in business in Trenton for 37 years and established a wide clientele in the Bay of Quinte district. Mr. Farrar was an ardent Rotarian and completed eighteen years of perfect attendance before he was forced, to give up attending every meeting, due to his health.

A Traveller's Note Book

The Parson's Drawl

A newspaper reports its appreciation of a complaint made by one of its readers to the effect that the church service is spoiled by the parson's drawl. We at least appreciate the fact that this critic does go to church, usually the critic knows very little about the church.

The Rolling Road

The road always seems to me to be symbolic of life itself. As one has said, the simple village road leads to the end of the world, so does the road taken by the thinker. This thought was pointed up for me in a recent conversation, one of many on the same subject — Religion. Not a few people seem to be disturbed to find that their thinking brings them to a dead end. I'm sure it does for there is a point where you have to abandon that particular way and take to the road of faith.

Like any other road, the road of religion means that the further you go the more you see, that is, unless you wear blinkers, or have a closed mind, or are afraid of what you will see.

A person put this one up to me a while ago: "The Christian religion is a recent comer to the earth, also, it is a very small affair and occupies a tiny place in the universal religions of mankind. Why then should we consider it of greater value than any other religion?"

Well, of course, that is true. The Christian religion, including the Roman Catholic Church, Church of England, Greek Orthodox and all the other branches of Christianity, forms a very small part, or rather embraces a very few of the world's peoples.

However, there is a remarkable agreement in the religious beliefs of mankind. Not only in that there is a supreme being, a future life, punishment for wrong doings, but also in such matters as the Trinity, a reverence for virginity, a faith that one may obtain assistance from God, all of which points to the view that God Himself has placed something of Himself in the life of man. By that we mean there is a universal religion of which Christianity is one of the forms.

What we can say is: Other religions have not the fuller revelation of God in Christ the Christian has.

So when you think about these things, remember, you are travelling along a highway very like one I was on recently, it looked good and rode good for miles and then suddenly the highway was not — it just was not. I hit the gravel and it was rough going for a long time. So is the road of religion and life.

Gratitude

I met a person recently who was full of warm milk and gratitude. She said: "What lovely food you have here in Canada." She had come from a country of great scarcity, hunger and want. She remarked on the vegetables, fruit and the many things we take for granted day by day.

I could appreciate that. For many months and indeed years, we in England saw little of real food as understood here. No fruit, no eggs, 5 half-plants of milk a week. Enough meat for one meal per week and so on — surely we live in a land flowing with milk and honey.

But powdered milk — we could say a whole pageful about that — wretched stuff and we had it for years.

Now here — we have found the best milk we have ever had — beautiful milky milk and so we are grateful.

"What is he worrying about, his business?"

"Oh no, it can't be that, his business folded four weeks ago."

Danford, Mrs. Bruce Stapley and Mrs. Gordon Nelson were appointed a committee to arrange the menu.

The meeting closed with the singing of "O God Whose Daylight Leadeth Down" and prayer by Mrs. Nelson.

Mrs. Stapley served dainty refreshments and all enjoyed a social half hour.

The Bible Today

(By Rev. C. R. Rudd)

Approximately 362,000 copies of Holy Scripture were distributed by the British and Foreign Bible Society in Canada last year. They were printed in 74 different languages. This is a great step forward from the year 1840, when an old Bible Society report gives us the figures 1662 Bibles, 1609 Testaments, 148 Indian translations (mostly Mohawk), making a total of 2819 copies.

With the great influx of newcomers to our land it is expected that the language requirements for 1958 will be 100 or more, and at least 50 of these will be in Ontario.

Our new citizens bring much that is rich in culture and their contribution to Canadian life is going to be a marked influence in years to come. But they come to share a privilege, with us that is, surely, one of the most enviable in the world today. And its value lies in its source, which is Scriptural teaching.

In the quiet dignity of County Court Citizenship ceremonies, all over Canada, there has been added to the regular proceedings another little ceremony — the presentation by the British and Foreign Bible Society of a copy of the Bible. Nearly 15,000 new citizens who have received such a gift will forever treasure it not only for its own value, but because of the Kind of Seal it sets on their entry to their new life.

propose to go about answering it at our place. We decided, in a family conclave last night, that we'd take the following steps:

(a) Know the Candidates: We are starting at once to find out what parties and what candidates are going to fight for election in our constituency. We'll try to find out how well they handle their own affairs, and how well they've conducted the affairs they have been charged with by others.

(b) Quiz the Candidates: Each candidate in our constituency is going to get an invitation to spend an hour or so in our living room trying to tell us why we should vote for him or her. And we'll have a list of questions to ask. How do you stand on the Canada Council getting $100,000,000 for culture? Do you believe the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation should be given $470,000,000 in the next 6 years, presumably also for culture? Do you believe in compulsory farm marketing boards having taxing power over the individual farmer? Will you reduce taxes, or will you support every expensive project that you think will win some votes?

(c) A Written Commitment: The candidate who can be assured of our vote will be the candidate who will give us a written commitment that he or she will stand up and vote and speak against any further welfare schemes until the welfare money now being paid out is worth what it was worth when the payments began. Until the old age pension will buy at least as much as it did the year it was started, this country just can't afford economically or morally to spend money for less worthy projects.

In short, we are going to make absolutely certain that as far as the candidates in our riding are concerned, they'll know at least one family has no use for any politician who will spend the people's money to buy the people's votes.

An education simply supplies the pattern — the rest is up to the individual.

Special Grant To Elementary Schools
Boosted From $8.00
To $11.00 Per Pupil

Special grants from the Province to elementary school boards have been increased by an additional $3.00 per pupil of average daily attendance in 1956, it was announced recently in a joint statement by Provincial Treasurer Dana Porter, Q.C., and Education Minister William J. Dunlop.

This increase brings the special grant up from $8.00 to $11.00 per pupil.

Premier Leslie M. Frost said this would bring the total grants to elementary schools up to $104 million for the year, the additional $3 per pupil grant representing an expenditure by the Province of $3 million.

"This is just an indication of the enormous requirements of this Province in the field of education," Mr. Frost said. "It is also an indication of the magnitude of the problems of this Province, of its municipalities and its school boards. It is just one more indication of our reasonableness in asking the Federal Government to vacate a further portion of the tax fields which belong to the Province as much as to the Federal Government. It is from growth and industrial expansion that the money should come.

The statement made by Provincial Treasurer Porter and Education Minister Dunlop said: "This special grant is being provided in recognition of the abnormal needs and conditions which have arisen with respect to the provision of adequate teachers' salaries as well as the need for improvement in the elementary schools of Ontario.

"Beginning in 1958," the two ministers stated, "the second stage of the Province's programme, which will be based upon equalized municipal assessment, will be brought into operation. With the growth in magnitude of these grants, considerations of equity dictate improved methods of distribution.

"An exhaustive study is being made of school finances to enable the Province to shape its educational grants more in accordance with the developing needs of all municipalities. The third stage, in 1959, will be devoted to making refinements and improvements in the school grants formula."

A lawyer was cross-examining an old Dutchman about the position of the doors, windows, and so forth, in a house in which a certain transaction had occurred.

"And now, my good man," said the lawyer, "will you be good enough to tell the court how the stairs run in the house?"

The Dutchman looked dazed and unsettled.

"How do the stairs run?" he queried.

"Yes," how do the stairs run?"

"Vell," continued the witness after a moment's thought, "ven I am upstairs dey run down and ven I am downstairs dey run oop."

NAPANEE CHOSEN
AS CENTRE FOR PIPELINE DEPOT

Trans-Canada Pipelines is establishing a spread warehouse and spread office in Napanee to serve 116 miles of natural gas pipeline from Port Hope to the east side of Kingston.

Trans-Canada Pipelines has leased a part of the Canadian Cannery plant from Napanee Iron Works Limited for the base, announced M. L. Hays, engineer in charge of the pipeline from Kapuskasing to Montreal. Napanee will also be the distribution point for 19.76 miles of construction of the pipeline from a point ten miles west to another point about ten miles east.

NEWS FOR THE BUSY FARMER

THE CONTROL OF WEEDS IN CORN WITH PRE-EMERGENCE SPRAYS

For a number of years now, farmers have been using 2,4-D as a post-emergence spray on corn for the control of weeds. This practice along with normal pre-planting and inter-row cultivation has proven to be fairly effective in the control of most of the broad-leaved weeds which are troublesome in corn. There are, however, some drawbacks to this system, points out Prof. G. E. Jones, Field Husbandry Department, Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph.

1. The weeds are destroyed after they appear, and have competed to some extent with the crop.
2. The application of 2,4-D must be timely, or severe damage to the corn may result.
3. Many fields are left unsprayed too long because of weather conditions.
4. Only susceptible weeds are removed. Other weeds are left and cause an eventual shift in weed populations.

Several row tillage operations are necessary, with resultant soil destruction and root pruning.

An ideal pre-emergence chemical should eliminate most of these difficulties, states Prof. Jones. A number of research stations have been conducting tests in order to screen out a chemical which has the following characteristics when applied to the soil before the corn emerges.

1. Give effective weed control over a wide range of soil and weather conditions.
2. Show little or no damage to the crop as measured by either quantity or quality of the harvested material.

3. Be cheap and show a profit for its use.
4. Show a fairly long residual activity but not carried over to damage succeeding crops.

5. Must be easy to apply with a sprayer.

In all pre-emergence spraying operations a number of factors must be kept in mind.

1. The surface of the soil must be smooth — preferably packed.
2. At least 30 gallons of water per acre are required for complete coverage of the soil.

3. Most wettable powders, (CMU and Simazin) cause excessive wear to gear pumps, so piston or other types of pumps must be used.

4. Application of chemicals in a band over the corn rows decreases costs appreciably, but inter-row tillage operations must be carried out for effective weed control.

A number of chemicals have shown promise of being able to fulfill most of these requirements. This year the Ontario Herbicide Committee recommended the use of OMU at the rate of 1 pound per acre in combination with 8 oz. of the amine form of 2,4-D. This should be applied on a smooth seedbed in 30 gallons of water as an overall spray before the corn emerges. This recommendation at the suggested rates is safe and will give good weed control in most years. The cost of the material is $4.00 per acre.

The dinitros have been satisfactory at rates of 4 to 5 pounds per acre, but the cost tends to be high. If these are used, their application should be delayed to just prior to emergence if possible.

Other chemicals have been tested for pre-emergence work on corn but have not as yet reached a stage where definite recommendations can be made. Randox for instance when used at the rate of 3 lbs. per acre has been giving effective control of annual grasses, but is not so effective for broad leaved weeds. The combination of Randox at 3 lbs. per acre and 2,4-D low volatile ester at 8 to 12 oz. per acre has shown promise but needs further testing.

The chemical Simazin was most promising in its first year of testing (1956) at the O.A.C. Effective control of the annual grass and broad leaved weeds was obtained for a period of 6 months without any damage to the corn. A rate of 4 lbs. per acre was used in this test. Other stations have reported that rates of 2 lbs. per acre gave good weed control and up to 16 lbs. per acre could be used without damaging the corn. A very extensive testing programme is under way with this chemical and it is hoped that enough information will be available soon so that definite recommendations can be made.

WEED OF THE WEEK

USE OF GOOD SEED BEST CHECK OF YELLOW ROCKET

Sometime about the middle of May, the first Yellow Rocket blooms will be seen in meadows, pastures and along roadsides. The Field Crops Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture warns that it is a difficult weed to eradicate, being biennial or a short-lived perennial, and a prolific seeder.

Yellow Rocket is classed as a primary noxious weed which ensures that not one seed may be present in No. 1 grade clover seed. The best way to keep it from getting a foothold in a field, therefore, is to use only No. 1 seed. But, if Yellow Rocket is present in a field, the most practical way to destroy it is to prevent it from going to seed. If plants aren't too numerous, they can be pulled out. The mower may also be used to clip the pastures as soon as the first blooms appear. In meadows, early cutting for grass silage will prevent new seed from forming and any ripe seeds which find their way into the silo will be destroyed by fermentation. On the other hand, if the fields are left for hay, the ripe seed will shatter; some will be left on the field, some will be scattered between the field and barn and some will spread through refuse to new fields.

While Yellow Rocket is susceptible to 2,4-D at about 8 ounces of acid per acre, this amount of chemical will also kill the better legumes, and since Yellow Rocket causes the most trouble in hay, chemical control is not of much help.

low Rocket causes the most trouble in hay, chemical control is not of much help.

Yellow Rocket is often confused with common mustard. They may be distinguished by the fact that Yellow Rocket blooms early—about May 15th to June 15th; Mustard blossoms between June 1st and July. Yellow Rocket is almost always found in sod, meadows, pastures and on roadsides, while Mustard grows mainly in spring cultivated crops such as grain or corn. Yellow Rocket has smooth, shiny leaves; those of Common Mustard are dull and somewhat hairy.

Yellow Rocket is a persistent weed; one which takes time and effort to eradicate, but a clean field is worth the work involved.

Ontario A Supervised Area Under The Brucellosis Act

Hon. W. A. Goodfellow, Minister of Agriculture for Ontario, announced recently that the entire province has been designated a supervised area under the Brucellosis Act. As a result of this order all female calves must be vaccinated after they reach the age of four months but before becoming 11 months old, with the cost of vaccination being borne by the province.

Every cattle owner is responsible for making arrangements for the vaccination of his calves and has the privilege of having them vaccinated by the veterinarian of his own choice. Although the certificates of appointments issued to practitioners make reference to the County or Counties in which they may perform vaccination services, no veterinarian has been granted the exclusive right to vaccinate in any area.

Under the Brucellosis Act female cattle may be moved from one supervised area to another without a permit or a blood test. Now that the whole province has attained that status restrictions have been lifted on the intra-provincial movement of cattle. Nevertheless, female cattle over ten months of age originating in other provinces must be isolated and blood tested before being allowed to mingle with native cattle.

Mr. Goodfellow is confident that provincial-wide enforcement will prove a great forward step in the fight against Brucellosis, which in past years has caused losses amounting to millions of dollars annually. So far as is known, Ontario is the first province to adopt a programme under which all female calves must be vaccinated. Because of the effectiveness of vaccination in the prevention of abortion it is reasonable to assume that losses from this disease will be greatly reduced in ensuing years.

No Time To Stop Producing

Remarks by Dr. H. L. Patterson of the Department of Agricultural Economics of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, when he recently said "this is no time to get out of farming," have brought encouragement to many sections of the province's agriculture.

"We're inclined to agree with him," said M. J. A. Gifford, of the Ontario Cream Producers' Marketing Board. "As a matter of fact we have been telling our members for quite some time that population increases, coupled with drops in agricultural production, would mean a better day for the farmer."

Dr. Patterson, in an interview with the Toronto Globe and Mail, said prices for farm products were likely to increase, as would farm incomes, because demand was beginning to outstrip supply. The population was increasing, he noted, and so was per capita consumption, while total production had fallen off.

This, said Mr. Gifford, was particularly true of butter. While there had been a lot of talk in recent years of surplus, consumption now parallels our production.

"It's certainly no time to stop producing," he said.

Justice Wilson Awards $14,678 To Trenton Company

The Trenton Cold Storage Company was awarded damages amounting to $14,678 and costs against the Town of Trenton at the conclusion of evidence at the non-jury sittings of the Supreme Court held before Mr. Justice J. L. Wilson in Belleville on Friday afternoon. Mr. R. E. Nourse, of Picton, appeared for the plaintiffs and Kenneth Ross for the corporation.

Meet The Salvation Army

The International Army — with its "heart to God and hand to man."

What is it? How did it start, What does it do?

In peace times and during two World Wars, thousands of people have seen The Salvation Army in action, taken its good work for granted, supported it, trusted it implicitly. Yet not one in hundreds could answer factual questions about it.

Do you, for example, know that it is an international organization operating places of worship and social rehabilitation centres in 85 countries and colonies of the globe? That its 26,626 officers are specially trained men and women who have further applied five years of religious sociology in action before qualifying as fully commissioned officers? But let's start at the beginning.

What Is The Salvation Army?

Purpose Spiritual: It is an evangelical movement with the single aim of converting people to Christian living. Because of the practical application of its beliefs in alleviating the tangible as well as the spiritual needs of men, its social services became well known; "a man may be down but he's never out" was termed its theory sometime ago. Recently the spiritual aim behind its social services was more accurately described when The Salvation Army was called "the first international army, with its heart to God and its hand to man."

How Did It Start?

Founded in 1865: It was founded by William Booth, an English minister, who withdrew from the Methodist church to preach the message of Christ from the street corners of London's worst slums.

Semi-Military Organization: When his converts were refused membership in the established churches, Booth banded them together as a group outside the church, which thirteen years later (1878) he called The Salvation Army. Organized along semi-military lines, uniforms, ranks, strict training and discipline have continued to be an integral part of The Army's setup.

Sociology Applied From Start: In 1860, hungry illiterate masses crowded the slums, scorned by the "respectable," living in vice and squalor. To pay attention to such persons was unheard of, radical! For General Booth to recognize their plight and set up soup kitchens as a preface to religion was still more revolutionary. Yet most successful.

How Did It Grow?

What Does It Do? Growth Rapid: From London the movement spread to England, Scotland, Wales, Ireland; people in all walks of life became interested, and early in the development of the organization General Booth selected his officers from professional fields, and further recognized the need of trained personnel for leadership by instituting training colleges where young men and women both could study for officership.

Social Service Expansion: General Booth's belief that a starving man must be fed before his hunger can be turned Godward included other services besides the soup kitchens. The Salvation Army extended a helping hand to the homeless; the sick and unemployable (in India thousands of lepers are treated in Salvation Army hospitals); to unmarried mothers; to criminals released from prisons; to the unfortunate in many fields.

Countries and Colonies, 85; Languages in which Salvation is preached, 81; Corps and Outposts, 17,830; Social Institutions and Agencies, 1,758; Day Schools, 821; Day School Pupils, 80,098; Servicemen's and Seamen's Centres, 158; Servicemen's and Seamen's Hostels, 26.

Red Shield Campaign

The Salvation Army Red Shield Campaign is conducted during the month of May. Chairman for Tweed and District including Stirling is Reeve T. C. Graham. Objective is $2450.00. Canvassers will be calling door to door within the next two weeks.

Wellman's W.I.

The May meeting of Wellman's Women's Institute was held on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. K. Tompkins. The meeting was opened with the Institute Ode and the Lord's Prayer.

A discussion on the training school for lamp shades followed, with the decision to lay it over until after the annual convention in June. It was passed to send $5.00 to the Salvation Army's Annual Red Shield Appeal.

This being the Grandmother's meeting, the programme followed along these lines, with the roll call "my grandmother's hobby," well responded to. Mrs. Geo. Watson sang a solo, "The Old Arm Chair." Miss Emma Rainie gave a reading, "Grandmother's Garden." A poem was read by Mrs.

Jack Dunham, "Ask Grandma," in keeping with the motto, "Be kind to the aged for they have come a long way, help the young for they have a long way to go."

A duet by Mrs. F. Beckett and Mrs. J. Pollock, "Put on your old grey bonnet," was enjoyed.

An impromptu debate, "Resolved that grandmother had a better life than the mothers of today," with the grandmothers against the mothers, with the grandmothers winning, proved very interesting.

The topic, "Old Days on the Farm," which had been written some thirty years ago by a former member, Mrs. John Snarr, now deceased, was read by Mrs. K. Tompkins. Mrs. Jack Dunham gave current events. Two contests were conducted by Mrs. Tompkins.

The meeting closed with the creed and the Queen. Lunch was served by the hostess and her assistants. A vote of thanks was tendered the hostess by Mrs. G. Watson.

Entered Into Rest

ALEXANDER FRANCIS REID

Following a serious illness of two months duration the death occurred at the family residence, 76 Bond St. E., Oshawa, early Tuesday of Alexander Francis Reid in his 81st year.

Born in Rawdon Township, on May 28th, 1876, the deceased went to Oshawa from Stirling 29 years ago and prior to his retirement three years ago operated his own shoe repair business on Bond Street.

Mr. Reid was predeceased by his first wife, the former Emma Willman. He leaves his second wife, the former Vera Daniel Treleven; a sister, Dorothy, of Madoc; 10 grandchildren and 16 great grandchildren; three stepdaughters and two stepsons.

The memorial service was held at the Armstrong Funeral Chapel, Oshawa, at 11:00 a.m. this morning (Thursday), followed by interment in Stirling Cemetery. Rev. M. A. Bury, minister of King Street United Church, Oshawa, conducted the services.

MRS. HARRY A. WICKETT

Mrs. Harry Arthur Wickett, a well known and highly esteemed resident of Foxboro, died at her home in that village Friday morning, after an illness of a year's duration.

The deceased was born 69 years ago in Rawdon Township, her maiden name being Sarah Almeria MacMurray, and she was a daughter of the late Jonas and Margaret Bamber MacMurray. She resided in Stirling prior to moving to Foxboro some 19 years ago. She was a member of St. John's Anglican Church, Stirling, and of the Woman's Guild of that church.

Mrs. Wickett is survived by her husband, Harry Arthur Wickett, one son, Ronald Arthur Wickett, of Foxboro; two grandchildren, two brothers, W. A. MacMurray and Leroy MacMurray, both of Gilmour, and one sister, Mrs. Albert Reid, of Foxboro.

Her passing is deeply regretted by a wide circle of friends.

The funeral took place from her late residence on Sunday to St. John's Church, Stirling, for service at 3 p.m. Rev. H. C. Secker conducted the service.

The pallbearers were all nephews; Messrs. V. A. McMurray, C. A. McMurray, Gerald McMurray, Reginald Reid, Don Reid and Murray Reid. Interment in Stirling Cemetery.

Pine Grove

Women's Institute

The May meeting of Pine Grove Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Harry Coulter with 13 members and three visitors present.

The President, Mrs. Allyn Finkle, opened the meeting with all singing the Opening Ode, after which all repeated the Mary Stewart Collect in unison. The roll call was answered by "Naming my best time saver."

During the business it was decided to give a donation to the Salvation Army. Mrs. Farley Lindenfield was appointed to be delegate to the District Annual at Stirling on June 6th. An invitation was read from the Women's Hospital Auxiliary, Belleville, to attend their May meeting when they will have a specialist speak on "Mental Disease and its Modern Day Treatment."

The branch is sending Mrs. Alex Tanner, leader, and Mrs. Grace Bartindale, assistant leader, to the training school. The subject will be "Lamp Shades," with Miss Jeanne Armour, Home Economics, in charge of the two day training school.

The members decided to ask for "Cultural Activities" as first choice of Home Economics Service Extension Branch, and as second choice, "When Food Makes A Difference."

Conveners of Standing Committees reported. Mrs. Grace Bartindale reported on the C.A.C. bulletin and gave current events.

Programme

Mrs. Leslie Finkle, programme convener, opened with a reading from the 1949 Summer edition of Home and Country, "The Women's Institute."

I is for the Institute, that has a world wide fame,

N is for the notes we get to help us round our home,

S is for the suppers once a month we plan ahead,

T is for the time we gain, by recipes we read,

I is for the information to keep our husbands sweet,

T is for the tasty dishes to cool them from the heat,

U is for the universe that needs a woman's hand,

T is for the touch that helps us rule the land,

E is for everyone who makes the best of things,

Put them all together, they spell Institute,

A work that means the world to you.

Mrs. Finkle introduced Mrs. Chas. Ross, who was a delegate to the 9th Officer's Conference at Guelph from Pine Grove W.I., to give her report of the Conference, which 700 delegates attended. The Conference was held at the Ontario Agricultural College on May 8th, 9th and 10th. Mrs. James Haggerty, of Napanee, President of the Federated Women's Institute of Ontario, opened the Conference.

Mrs. Finkle thanked Mrs. Ross for her very complete report. Two contests were enjoyed by the members. The Lord's Prayer brought the meeting to a close, after which refreshments were served.

St. Paul's W.M.S.

May Meeting

At the May meeting of St. Paul's W.M.S. an exhibit of colorful quilts, cosy knitted children's clothing and miscellaneous garments attested to the leadership of the Supply Secretary, Mrs. M. Bell and her committee in accumulating a generous baile for the W.M.S.

The President, Mrs. Geo. Carlisle, opened the meeting with a "Prayer For Home."

Mrs. M. Bell stated the theme of the worship service as "Home Missions" and read the poem, "Lord of the Lands," followed by the hymn, "Jesus Shall Reign Where'er the Sun."

Mrs. Jones read Matthew 25: 31-46. Mrs. Bell, Mrs. M. Fraser, Mrs. J. B. Thompson and Mrs. M. Pitman led in a litany for Home Missions. The hymn, "In Christ There Is No East or West," was sung.

Mrs. R. Stapley gave two piano accordion solos, accompanied by Mrs. H. West at the piano.

Mrs. H. C. Martin chose a very appropriate text, Proverbs 31, beginning at the 10th verse for her talk on the practical work of the W.M.S. She told of many accomplishments of the W.M.S. and concluded with a poem, "Worth of Women."

Mrs. Bell read a poem entitled, "Want," based on the 23rd Psalm. Miss Jane West sang a solo.

The visiting committee reported 22 house calls and one hospital call. After the Mizpah Benediction, Mrs. Bell and her committee served delicious muffins and tea.

St. John's W.A. May Meeting

The May meeting of St. John's W.A. was held in the Parish Hall with 14 members in attendance. The meeting was opened by singing hymn 429, followed by the Litany, a prayer for the sick and the member's prayer. Mrs. Edgar Morrow read from the 16th Chapter of St. Mark.

Roll call was answered by a verse from the Bible containing the word "Peace." The President, Mrs. M. Tanner, read the April Board letter from Mrs. Porter. Mrs. Earl Morrow gave the Treasurer's report and the Secretary was asked to write the Guild and the Ladies' League, thanking each for a donation of $25 towards the W.A.'s missionary work.

Mrs. Melville Tanner gave a very well prepared and comprehensive report of the Annual Diocesan W.A. meeting held in St. George's Cathedral and Parish Hall in Kingston on May 1st, 2nd and 3rd.

There were 346 Communicants and a W.A. Memorial Book was dedicated. The offering amounted to $2564.87. Conferences were held for discussion and samples of educational literature, church linen, dornas supplies and Pakistan embroidery work were arranged in the library.

On Wednesday evening a play entitled, "Women Working Together in the Church" and written by the Dominion Secretary of the Little Helper's Department, was ably presented by six W.A. members. It dealt with all aspects of W.A. work and pointed to the advantage of working together in the parish for the good of the whole church.

On Thursday, the Rev. H. C. Secker and Mrs. Secker, the President, Mrs. Melville Tanner; Past President, Mrs. Hiram Rodgers, and Mrs. Frank McGee, Prayer Secretary of St. John's W.A., attended the service held in the Cathedral. John Anderson, Dean of Ottawa, chose as the text for his sermon, "Woe is me if I preach not the Gospel," from 1st Corinthians. Each of us has a part, an influence and each must ask, "What Gospel is mine?" After the service luncheon was served at Cooke's United Church. Miss Winnifred Burns presided at the afternoon meeting in St. George's Parish Hall, and gave a report on the Dominion W.A. meeting held in Sudbury a short time ago. Nearly all of the 74 branches of the W.A. in the Diocese were represented. Mrs. A. H. Davies, of Toronto, whose husband is Field Secretary of the M.S.C.C., gave a most interesting address. She accompanied her husband on a trip to India and to various other countries to investigate missionary problems confronting the church.

The Dean of Ottawa gave an address, wherein he stressed the great bond between Christians everywhere and the great challenge given to us of service.

Various reports were given on W.A. work and the Rev. John Hart, Christ Church, Cataraqui, conducted the closing prayers.

The evening session was a public missionary meeting with the Dean of the Diocese as chairman. The speaker was Miss Doubleday, of Heroshima, Japan. After the fateful bombing in 1947, work started in the spring of 1948 and now the city has grown and schools and universities started. The new church is called "The Church of the Resurrection." Miss Doubleday asked for the prayers and sympathetic support of W.A. workers and a constant remembrance of the sister church in the Kobe Diocese.

On Friday morning the meeting began at 9:30 with the Vice-President, Mrs. Tillatson conducting the opening prayers. Reports and suggestions were heard, followed by the voting of funds. The Rev. J. P. Scanlon gave the mid-day prayers and address.

The afternoon session continued with reports. Archdeacon Cregan, of Belleville, took the service of dedication and installation of officers and offered the closing prayers.

Mrs. Hiram Rodgers reported on the voting of Life Members offering at the annual meeting. Mrs. M. Tanner read the Recording Secretary's report and then closed the meeting.

A delicious lunch was served by Mrs. T. Tanner and Mrs. Earl Morrow. Mrs. Secker thanked Mrs. Melville Tanner for her very excellent and detailed report on the Annual Diocesan W.A. and also Mrs. Rodgers and the hostesses of the day.

The next meeting of St. John's W.A. will be held at the home of Mrs. J. S. Whitehead on June 11th when the roll call will be answered by each member donating a bar of soap for the Mission in Sugluk.

The Other Chap

"No precaution on your part can make the other chap do the right thing when he's driving," reads an editorial in the Clinton News Record. "The only thing you can hope to do is to be ready for the most unusual thing that the other drivers may decide to do. Be alert to see when that oncoming car turns out into your lane to pass another vehicle ahead of him. Be quick to see when that other car is going to turn out onto the road in front of your own. Be wide awake all the time, when you're driving."

Hats, Cars
And Wind Screens

I think I was not mistaken in Montreal recently I detected a harking back to the days of the good Queen in ladies hats. They are the type that cover not only the head but half the face as well. This gave me an idea, such headress must be hard on the eyes — the vision is obstructed. A really good help would be to insert a transparent frame in the brim that falls over the eyes. We might go further and equip it with a wind screen wiper.

In the same city I noticed that the policemen are efficient but not human, unlike a city to the south of us where the policeman are human but not... well, most of them are youngsters.

Maia

The Roman Goddess of growth. And surely May is the month for growth — every living thing seems to have come to life and is rapidly making limb, leaf and loveliness. The cows also are having a good time.

The Saxons called the month of May — Thrimilce — for the simple reason that after the winter, cows could be milked three times a day.

Nice for the cows, otherwise they could easily get tired.

The Rolling Road

I had begun to think the road was made up of all "Middle" until I listened to like a few nights ago. He seemed to clarify his doctrine and, judging from his argument, he managed to put up a good show. He quite honestly admitted that all the help handed out by his country was by way of insurance — self defence and he justified his actions by some startling facts. It looks as though all the talk of having "Given" millions of dollars away is in fact, both for the U.S.A. and Canada, a cheaper line than having the Communists on one's door step.

So the truth is out.

High Life, Low Life

And Wild Life

One of the "Ladies in waiting" to the Queen stands six feet tall. Nothing is said of her height when sitting. Think of a word rhyming with Quebec.

Tail Spin

I hear the RCAF are having their "Ups and downs."

Maynes -- Empey Nuptials At Marmora Church

A pretty wedding was solemnized on Saturday, May 18th at 1.00 p.m. in St. Paul's Anglican Church, Marmora, when Margaret Rose Empey, of Marmora, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Empey, was united in marriage by the Reverend R. G. Fleming, rector of the church, to Robert Emerson Maynes, also of Marmora, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Maynes. Pink and white baby 'mums adorned the chancel, and white satin bows the guest pews.

Mrs. R. Shatford, soloist, sang the "Wedding Prayer" and "O Perfect Love," accompanied by Mrs. Roy Frost, organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in white Chantilly lace and nylon illusion, fashioned in ballerina length with bouffant skirt etched with seed pearls on the scalloped lace. The fitted bodice featured a portrait neckline outlined with scalloped lace and seed pearls. The long, lily-point sleeves were sheath-like. Her shoulder length veil of tulle illusion was caught to a callot headdress, and she carried red Bettertime roses mingled with lily-of-the-valley.

Mrs. Kenneth Cannon, of Belleville, cousin of the bride, as matron of honor, and the Misses Joan Hefferman, of Peterborough, cousin of the bride, and Shirley Francis, of Stirling, cousin of the bridegroom, were gowned alike in white organza in ballerina-length, embroidered in cut work motifs of pink for the matron of honor; blue for Miss Francis, and mauve for Miss Hefferman, with matching cummerbunds accented at the back with large bows of taffeta. They wore floral headdresses matching their cummerbunds.

Mr. Eldon Killian, of Marmora, attended the bridegroom and Mr. Kenneth Trumble and Mr. Thomas Hanley, both of Marmora, were ushers.

The reception was held in St. Paul's parish hall to which the Anglican Guild catered.

The bride's mother, for her daughter's wedding, wore beige peau de soie, appliqued with matching lace, with blue hat, shoes, gloves and purse and corsage of blue carnations. The bridegroom's mother, attired in pink organza with lace heading at the neckline, pink accessories and corsage of pink chrysanthemums, assisted in the receiving line.

Following the reception, the young couple left for Washington, D.C., by motor, the bride travelling in a white and navy dress with white accessories, blue coat and pink rose and lily-of-the-valley corsage. Mr. and Mrs. Maynes will reside in Marmora, where the bridegroom owns and operates the Plaza Theatre, and is manager of the chain store.

A rehearsal tea was held for the bridal party by the mother of the bridegroom, Mrs. Albert Maynes.

Guests attended from Peterborough, Belleville, Stirling, Harold, Toronto, Trenton and Tweed.

MAN-TO-MAN

"The way I see it," a big, good-natured American tourist said to me, "you Canadians ought to be yourselves and us folks in the USA ought to be ourselves, and we'd get along fine. When you've got a beef, name it and speak up bluntly; and when we're sore, we'll say so too. After all, you ain't a baby country — you're too big for sulking and you ought to deal man-to-man."

I liked what he had to say, and I took his advice. First, I told him I was sore at Congressional Committees for crossing our borders with their slander. I hate Communies as much as anybody does, but I think we're capable of unearthing them ourselves without using the scatter-gun techniques of some U.S.A. Committees.

"Okay," he said, "and you ticked off. Good. Nobody went to your about it!"

"Another thing," I said, while I still had my dander up, "is the way some of your windy senators rant about so-called Canadian cartels and monopolies in Canadian newsprint. Don't they know that the 1957 capacity of newsprint mills either in the States or controlled by the U.S.A. is bigger than the capacity of all Canadian owned mills?"

"That true?" he asked, skeptically.

"True as you're born," I told him, and dug up figures — American figures — to prove it.

"Well," he said, shaking his head, "that just shows what I mean. You folks sulk over such things, instead of speaking up. Down home, we talk back to Washington plenty. You ought to do the same. But you pussy-foot too much. Americans would rather you'd get these things off your chest . . . if you don't, one day you'll blow up on us something awful!"

I think he is right. I was happy to note the other day that at least one Canadian industrialist, P. M. Fox, blasted Washington politicians in language they could understand and with figures they couldn't refute. If more leading Canadians would do the same thing when necessary, we'd have a healthier, happier relationship with the U.S.A. Surely, as mature friends, we ought to be able to deal as my American tourist put it, "man-to-man."

Amendments To Ontario Highway Traffic Act

Amendments to the Highway Traffic Act passed at the third session of the 25th Legislature of Ontario included Rules of the Road, vehicle equipment, procedures, penalties, conditions of financial responsibility and the Unsatisfied Judgment Fund.

Changes in the Financial Responsibility laws and the Unsatisfied Judgment Fund become effective January 1st, 1958. The balance becomes effective June 2nd, 1957.

The Act has been reworded to permit the use of "Yield Right of Way" signs at through highways as substitutes for "Stop" signs where appropriate. Drivers approaching a "Yield Right of Way" sign at a through highway, upon reducing speed to 15 m.p.h. or less, may then proceed in the same manner as in the case of a "Stop" sign after having come to a full stop.

Wide vehicles (over 80") may now display either a green or amber front clearance lamp, bringing Ontario practice into line with that of other jurisdictions.

Used car dealers, at the time of each sale, must now provide a certificate, separate from the bill of sale, stating whether or not the vehicle is in a safe operating condition. Penalties range from $50 to $300 for either non-compliance or false statement.

Penalties for violations of Rules of the Road, as well as the general penalty section which covers all sections of the Act not covered by specific penalties, have been increased. Fines range from $5 to $50 for the first offence, $10 to $100 for the second offence and $20 to $200 for the third offence. Penalties for second convictions for Rules of the Road violations can include three-month licence suspension or six-month suspension in the case of third convictions. These penalties apply also to speeding convictions. Convictions for criminal negligence now carry mandatory licence suspension of three months, or if an accident has occurred, six months. In all cases of licence suspension, whether mandatory or imposed by the court, the licence must be picked up, endorsed and forwarded to the Registrar of Motor Vehicles by the courts.

In cases of appeal against convictions carrying licence or permit suspension, the suspension will not apply if proof of financial responsibility is provided unless or until the conviction is sustained upon the hearing of the appeal.

Financial Responsibility minimum limits will be increased, effective on January 1st, 1958, to $10,000 against death or injury of any one person, $20,000 in the case of two or more, and $5,000 for property damage. Where securities are deposited as proof of financial responsibility, the minimum amount will be increased from $11,000 to $25,000.

Maximum payments permitted under the Unsatisfied Judgment Fund will be increased from $5,000 to $10,000 for death or injury to one person, from $10,000 to $20,000 for two or more persons and from $1,000 to $2,000 for damage to property. These limits will apply to accidents occurring after January 1st, 1958.

Owners who are not insured for at least the new minimum limits of $10,000, $20,000, $5,000 will be required to pay a fee of $5 when securing 1958 registration plates. This is in addition to the regular fee for registration and will be credited to the Unsatisfied Judgment Fund.

The Bible Today

(By Rev. C. R. Rudd)

Nearly all the Bible Societies report increasing circulation figures and most of such increases are indicative of an improved literacy rate as well as a growing interest in Christianity.

In Bolivia, for example, where the population is only about 3½ million and the literates only 30% — there were 173,344 copies of the Holy Scriptures distributed last year. In Peru 110,000 copies are given out each year, and there is a greater responsibility being assumed by Church members for spreading the Word of God. Similar encouraging reports come from other parts of South America. But it is on Africa that our eyes rest with some anxiety. Great changes are taking place in the vast land which used to be called "The Dark Continent." Many problems of the future social order are arising and must be solved. Upon many of them the Bible can illumine the mind and strengthen the heart.

The British and Foreign Bible Society gives thanks for the completion of seven new African editions this year, but prays that the way may be open for wider distribution. The cry which is heard from Africa these days is "When will there be more supplies of complete Bibles arriving? It is the growth of the work that prompts the cries. A tribe living on the shores of Lake Tchad had only 40 people reading the Scriptures ten years ago. Today there are 5,000 readers.

Such facts as these are charged with a meaning and a message for us all and today's urgent situation should impel us to redouble our efforts in spreading this Word of Life to all men.

Stirling Cub Activities

The last meeting of the Cubs prior to summer vacation was held Monday evening at the Public School. The Cubs will meet again in the middle of September when any boy who is eight years old will be able to join.

The Cubs have had a very successful year. 115 badges were passed and 16 boys received their first star and 15 the second star. This is quite a record and shows that the boys have really been working. One boy, Bill West, has his 13 badges, and several boys are very close.

Fifteen boys went up into the Troop and 16 boys are ready to go up next September, but there are more than that number of boys who will be joining Cubs.

In leadership we have the best any Pack can have — three leaders with their Gilwell training, which is the highest any leader can receive, and another who is working on it.

Cub Camp

Our Cub Camp will be held from August 3rd to August 10th at Presqu'ile Point. All boys 10 years and over may attend this camp and if we do not have enough boys of 10 years we will take some nine year olds.

Field Day

On Saturday, May 25th the Trent Valley District Cub Field Day was held in Warkworth. About 225 boys attended with 30 boys from Stirling present. 18 boys passed the Athlete's badge. Boys from Norwood, Havelock, Marmora, Campbellford, Warkworth and Stirling attended.

NEW DRUG TO KILL PAIN

(St. Thomas Times-Journal)

One of these days few, if any will have to suffer pain to any extent as science continues its experiments. Development of a drug which has relieved pain in animals in 10 minutes. has been reported to the American Chemical Society in Miami, Fla. It may be the most effective yet.

The compound, a synthetic product, relieves pain in 35 minutes or less time than is required by morphine and is long lasting in its effects. It appears to be free from morphine's tendency to slow down the rate of breathing.

Dr. George de Stevens, senior research chemist in the medicinal division of C.I.B.A., Pharmaceutical Products, Inc., at Summit, N.J., said the potentialities of the drug for relieving pains in humans now are being explored. Such a new and quick pain-killer will be welcomed.

A VITAL ISSUE

(Winnipeg Tribune)

Only those close to its workings realize that much of Parliament's real supremacy has been eroded because of top-heavy government majorities. For more than a score of years these majorities have sat by supinely while Commons committees were being deprived of real power and while the executive flouted parliamentary control. It is hard to bring home to voters the extent of this erosion and arouse them to the danger that exists.

Nevertheless the erosion and the danger are real. John Diefenbaker is quite right in emphasizing that the supremacy of Parliament in an important issue in the present campaign.

NEWS FOR THE BUSY FARMER

WEED OF THE WEEK

OX-EYE DAISY CLASSED AS NOXIOUS WEED

Ox-eye Daisy is one weed that most people recognize and its flower — white petals with a yellow centre — is seen in meadows, permanent pastures and along roadsides where it can make an attractive showing. But, as the Field Crops Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture points out, though it may be pretty, it is still a weed and a persistent one, too.

Ox-eye Daisy (Chrysanthemum Leucanthemum) was introduced to this continent long ago from Europe and since then has become firmly established, crowding out hay and pasture plants and giving an off-flavor to milk when eaten by cattle. As it cannot stand cultivation, one solution is to break and crop the land for a few years before reseeding. Short term pasture, one or two years at most, then broken and cropped, will prevent the weed becoming well established.

Long term seedings, intended for more than two years, should contain brome, ladino, clover, and if drainage is good enough, alfalfa. Timothy does not form a tight sod resistant to weeds, and old timothy fields are where Ox-eye Daisy causes the most trouble. Its seed cannot be separated from timothy with screens, but requires the use of a special machine. Ox-eye Daisy seed is classed as a primary noxious weed seed and therefore none should be present in any No. 1 grade seed.

In the early stages of growth Ox-eye Daisy can be controlled with 2,4-D at 16 ounces acid per acre. This requires a spring application, well in advance of blossoming, and a second application early in September. 2,4-D is most useful on pasture land which cannot be broken.

The use of 2,4-D or other herbicides for eradicating weeds in pastures cannot improve the grazing until new grass or clovers fill in the spaces left bare by the weeds. Therefore, it is usually advisable to introduce some new seed of adaptable species, and fertilize to help establish the new grass. After treating weeds in the spring and fall, a fall application of grass seed and fertilizer should thicken up the stand and improve the next season's grazing.

A KILLER OF POTATO BEETLES

Insecticides and other insect control measures devised by man are not the only barriers injurious insects are forced to contend with in their struggle for survival. Certain predators and parasites unwittingly assist in the destruction of many pests and in some instances are of extreme value to the country. Wherever possible these natural enemies are nurtured and it is this aspect of control that J. S. Kelleher of the Entomological Laboratory Science Service, Canada Department of Agriculture, is now studying in connection with the Colorado Potato Beetle or potato-bug as it is often called.

A certain parasitic insect destroys a percentage of the potato beetle population each year but available information on its biology is limited. Furthermore, very little is known as to what insecticides designed for the control of the potato beetle, will do to this parasite. Studies of this nature are of extreme value to the Canadian entomologists and of particular interest to European entomologists as they are considering the possibility of using this parasite in the control of the Colorado Potato Beetle in Europe.

In areas where the potato beetle has not built up a resistance to DDT, this chemical applied as a spray or dust will control this pest. Where resistance is evident, a spray containing toxaphene, dieldrin, heptachlor or aldrin will give satisfactory control. Needless to say, parasitic control of the Colorado Potato Beetle or any other insect would have many advantages over chemical control.

History of The Ontario Agric. Rep. Service

The Agricultural Representative Service in Ontario owes its birth to the inspiration and vision of Dr. C. C. James, Deputy Minister of Agriculture who in 1906 outlined the plan in a memorandum to Hon. Nelson Monteth, then Minister of Agriculture. With the co-operation of the Department of Education, six young men were appointed in 1907 as District Representatives, charged with a dual mission — to teach agriculture in the high schools and to expand the work of the Ontario Department of Agriculture through "on the spot" service to the farmer.

Thanks to their enthusiasm, ability and initiative, the demand for such service spread rapidly. By 1912 twenty-nine offices had been established in the counties and districts of Ontario. The Ontario Department of Agriculture assumed full responsibility for the District Representatives and an Assistant Deputy Minister was put in charge of the work. Later these men were called Agricultural Representatives and in 1918 the Agricultural Representative Branch was formed within the Department of Agriculture. In 1956 the present Extension Branch was formed, incorporating various specialized services.

From its introduction in 1907 until the present, the history of the Extension Branch has been one of progress and expansion. One of the major concerns has been the training and leadership given young farm people through Junior Farmer and 4-H Clubs. The first four Junior Farmer Clubs were organized in 1914 in the counties of Peel, York, Durham and Middlesex and the first Boys and Girls Live Stock Club in Waterloo County in 1915. Today there are close to 7,000 Junior Farmers in Ontario and over 21,000 4-H Club members.

In senior extension work the Agricultural Representatives have promoted the use of better seed, new crop varieties, improved live stock feeding and breeding, soil conservation and land use and more efficient farm management. In addition they have offered guidance and encouragement to all types of farm organizations. Throughout two World Wars they served in the forces or worked around the clock at home to increase food production.

As the demand grew for more specialized services, the Ontario Department of Agriculture established an Extension Branch of which the Agricultural Representative Service now forms part. This Branch also includes the Home Economics Service, the Fruit and Vegetable Extension Service and the Agricultural Engineering Extension Service.

Today the Extension Branch employs the services of 54 Agricultural Representatives, 30 Associate and Assistant Representatives, 41 Home Economics Specialists, 10 Fruit and Vegetable Extension Specialists, 14 Agricultural Engineering Extension Specialists and 1 Tobacco Extension Specialist as well as administrative staff.

Telephone Round-up

Every parent knows how easily a two-gun cowboy can lose track of time—especially around mealtime.

But she also knows it's a simple matter to round him up by telephone. And any vague feeling of anxiety about where he is or what he is doing is quickly dispelled by that eager voice at the other end of the line.

Yes, the telephone is a convenience and a comfort, all day long. It means fewer meals grown cold because youngsters or husband are late getting home. It means more security when you're alone at night. It means more things done with less time and effort... Yet this endlessly useful servant works for you for just a few cents a day.

June Is Dairy Month In Canada

June is Dairy Month is a slogan with special meaning in Canada, say officials of Dairy Farmers of Canada, the national producers' organization. Starting as an advertising slogan under which dairy foods were related to summer eating, it has now come to take on a broader meaning across the nation. Mention of June conjures up in most minds a host of pleasant associations. Warm weather and green grass are immediately tied up with grazing cows and the scenes of contentment which seem to spread across the land at that time of year.

June is an excellent time of year for rural and urban people to once again consider their interdependence. Canadians eat something like 1,635 pounds of dairy foods per capita every year. This is an important part of the individual diet considering either volume or the nutritional aspects of the situation. By their generous purchases of dairy foods, urban housewives enable 465,000 dairy farmers to spend millions of dollars each year for the products of the factories where urban husbands work. There is real interdependence here.

Dairy products are worth a billion dollars a year to the Canadian economy and this is only part of the story. One of the greatest arguments for a dairy industry does not appear in cold statistics. It is generally accepted that Canada needs a healthy and prosperous agriculture as a part of the overall economy. In this context a healthy agriculture means not only good prices but efficient soil use and management. No agricultural practice does more to conserve the vital elements of the soil than does dairy farming, for dairy farming requires large acreages of pasture and hay crops which not only build soil but prevent the ravages of wind and water erosion.

It can be said with some truth that dairying preserves both the human and the soil resources of the Canadian nation.

STATISTICS VITAL IN AGRICULTURE

Each June, the Ontario Department of Agriculture in co-operation with the Dominion Bureau of Statistics conducts a survey of the number of live stock and poultry on farms and the number of acres sown to the various field crops. Forms for this survey have been mailed out and are now in the hands of farmers.

The success of this survey depends on the co-operation of farmers in filling in and returning the questionnaires. A widespread response from all types of farmers throughout the province is needed in order that the statistics can be based on a sufficiently large number of reports from a representative sample of farms throughout Ontario.

The statistics obtained from the survey are used extensively throughout the year by governments, farm organizations and farm co-operatives, banks, industry, various farm commodity marketing boards, and by farmers themselves to obtain basic information and facts in order to more efficiently plan future operations. The farmer, through providing the information asked for on the schedule, has a real opportunity to help form a true picture of agricultural conditions.

The survey has absolutely no connection with taxation. The farmer's individual form is seen only by workers in the Dominion and Provincial agricultural statistics offices, and the farmer is protected by law against the wrong use of his return. All individual forms are kept strictly confidential and are used only for the preparation of county and provincial totals.

CITY STREETS

(Kingston Whig-Standard)
The traveller on Highway 2 in Ontario knows the boundaries of every city in his path. They are marked by the immediate deterioration of the road surface.

He will know to the hairline where Kingston's city streets end and a reasonable road begins.

As he gets to Belleville he will again be aware of it. Belleville's through streets are worse than any other city's on the 165 mile journey from Kingston to Toronto.

Do we have to get every child into an air-conditioned, roomy, glass-walled school, and every scrap of sewage properly treated before we can have money to build city streets which will make them an obvious part of this century rather than of last?

MADE BY PEOPLE

A COUNTRY is not made by its resources but by its people. Natural resources were here before there were any people.

It is the people of Canada who have made this country by their courage, industry, intelligence, and thrift.

Canada can maintain its position in the world only through the continued work and devotion of its citizens.

Possession of the most abundant natural resources is not enough to ensure national greatness.

Encampment Rally At Ottawa

R. E. Fox, Grand Patriarch of Ontario, and Mrs. Fox, attended an Encampment Rally held in the Chateau Laurier, Ottawa, during the week-end. Netherlands Ambassador, A. H. J. Lovink, was the principal speaker at a banquet on Saturday night, when he discussed co-operation between Canada and the Netherlands. Mr. Fox was also one of the speakers at the banquet and read a lesson at the service in St. John's Anglican Church on Sunday.

Soil And Seed Service At St. John's

On Rogation Sunday the blessing of soil and seed took place during the Holy Eucharist at 11 o'clock at St. John's Anglican Church. Special hymns were sung, with the traditional Rogation prayers.

Mr. Ken Morrow and Mr. Ken Mumby presented the soil and seed to the Rector, Rev. H. C. Secker, with the following words: "Here O God, we present to Thee the land and its workers, farmers and others with their families, symbolized by this soil and seed, which we implore Thee to accept. Whatever is unworthy in them or us, do Thou O God accept and bless through the Atonement once made for us."

The Bread and Wine were presented by Mr. Geo. Noble People's Warden, and Mr. Harry Wickett, Rector's Warden, with the following words: "Here O God we present to Thee these offerings with the Bread and Wine symbolizing our willingness to give back to Thee, the giver of all, some sacrifice and service of ourselves, souls and bodies. Use these, and us, as you will, to fulfill thy divine purpose."

Sidemen presenting the offering were Mr. Jack Chard and Mr. Stewart McArthur. Servers assisting the Rector were Robert Noble and Robert Secker.

Master Bruce Woodbeck sang two verses from Rev. Godfrey Thring's hymn, "Saviour Blessed Saviour Listen While We Sing," which was in keeping with the theme of the day, the offering of all we are and hope to be to God for His blessing.

The flowers on the altar were placed there by the Stirling Rover Scouts in memory of Chuck Hamilton.

At the same service the infant child of Donald and Elma Shettell was christened Mark. Godparents were Barbara and Donald Sheridan and Ronald Shettell.

A large congregation witnessed nine of the ten newly Confirmed take their first communion. The Bishop's certificates were presented to these persons at the close of the service.

Miss Ella Crofts, formerly of York-shire, England, and now of Toronto, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. John Stephens.

Recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Rollins were Mrs. Alice Dulmage, Miss Shirley Foucher and Mr. John Rollins, Belleville.

Messrs. P. M. Wood, S. J. Donnan and T. E. Fleming attended the official opening of the Faraday Uranium Mine at Bancroft on Thursday, May 30th.

Mrs. Wm. Shaw, Mrs. M. Shaw, Miss B. Fleming, Mrs. J. Wright and Mrs. H. Benson, attended the annual Summer Rally of Kingston Presbyterian W.M.S. of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, held in St. Andrew's Church, Stirling, on Wednesday, May 29th.

Brownie Notes

Hope everyone survived the hike on Saturday. It is a beautiful woods but a bit too far for a nice hike. The unusual flower we found is called "May Apple" or "Wild Mandrake." Later on the flower will turn to a fruit which is edible.

Those of the Brownies who were not on the hike, please call for your cards from the Red Cross showing step by step instructions for artificial respiration. You and your mother practise these at home. Perhaps this knowledge will save a life. Over four hundred children were drowned in Canada last year, so everyone should be prepared for emergencies.

Those that passed any badges that were not back before the banquet, I have them now, so call at my house any time for them.

I would like to mention also our trip to the Belleville General Hospital. There were forty of us in the hospital which also makes a parade in itself. We were shown through the children's ward and spoke with the children. Afterwards the nurse in charge took us to the dining room where we were all served with cookies and chocolate.

My Appreciation!

Having disposed of my insurance agency in Stirling to Mr. H. E. Baker, of Kingston, I wish to express my appreciation and thanks to friends and customers in Stirling and district for their patronage and co-operation during the past twelve years. I shall always maintain happy memories of my association with the citizens of Stirling and district.

I wish to bespeak the same happy business relationships for my successor.
